Mission Continues

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

For Charles H. "Pete" Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon the moment of truth came on the back side of the moon at 9:47 p.m. Chicago time.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Question School Sites

A SOUND AND FILM strip projector and tape recorder are used as aids in Hoffman Estates Police Department in-service training program. Sgt. James Dutton points out the advantages of the equipment to Officer James Griffin.

Are school districts responsible for knowing that a donated school site is buildable before the site is accepted?

Supt. Wayne Schaible answered the question in face of criticism that Elementary School Dist. 54 has been remiss in assuring that its sites are adequate.

Land developers should insure that sites given to Dist. 54 are buildable, Supt. Schaible told the Herald. A letter has been sent to villages served by Dist. 54 explaining the school's feelings.

"It is our position that the developer should pay for soil borings to make sure that a school site is buildable," Schaible said. "After all, it is the developer who is saying that the site is buildable."

"The school board has no authority to grant zoning to a developer," Schaible added.

THE DIST. 54 superintendent said the experience of the school district has been that title to sites given to Dist. 54 are not received until the school district is about ready to start building on the site, perhaps two or three years after an agreement on a site donation is reached and zoning is approved.

Richard Regan, chairman of the Hoffman Estates Plan Commission, said recently that Dist. 54 should select sites in developments before building starts and prove to its own satisfaction that a school site is buildable.

"The school district has not always been in a position to choose a site," said Schaible. "The first concern of the board has been to obtain some site for the pupils who will come from a development."

S. GUY FISHMAN, Dist. 54 architect, has estimated the cost of soil borings to determine that a site is buildable at $1,000.

"We hope to start getting titles to school sites sooner," Schaible noted. He observed that a problem with a proposed school in Dist. 54 now exists because the developer has not transferred title to Dist. 54 yet.

The Village of Schaumburg is transferring title to a school site in Timbercrest to the Illinois School Building Commission (ISBC) so that a school financed by the state agency can be built on the site rather than in the Lancer subdivision.

A 21-room school was to be built in Schaumburg's Lancer subdivision. However, the developer has not yet obtained title to the site from the present owner.

BID OPENING for three elementary schools in Dist. 54 to be financed by the ISBC is scheduled on Jan. 6. And the state agency must have title to school sites three weeks prior to that.

"Mayor Robert Atcher has been most cooperative in this matter," said Supt. Schaible.

Schaible said that "ideally, it would be nice to start building a school once a development begins construction. But this is not possible."

New school construction in Dist. 54 is now a year behind home construction in new developments.

Dist. 54 administrators are studying plans of Kaufman and Broad, Multicon, and Peter Robin developments in Hoffman Estates for possible school sites, according to Schaible.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Bonnie Hannon, chairman of the school board's building and sites committee, buildable school sites are particularly important in building projects financed by the Illinois School Building Commission.

Three 21-room elementary schools to be constructed next in the Dist. 54 building program will all be financed by ISBC loans. And these loans are determined on a maximum construction cost of $16.80 per square foot, including site work.

One of these 21-room schools is to be located on a 6.3-acre site donated by Hoffman Rosner to Dist. 54 in Highpoint. The site is at 151 Kingsdale Road between Higgins and Golf roads. According to Dist. 54 architect S. Guy Fishman, poor soil conditions at this site will require extraordinary foundation work on 75 per cent of the site.

"It is in the best interest of Dist. 54 taxpayers to accept donated school sites in the future only if they are buildable without the use of caissons or other substructures," said Mrs. Hannon.

Work on Rare Moment

by STEVE NOVICK

Most Americans have watched the arrival of police at the scene of a crime 1000 times on their TVs. To the average citizen such scenes have become so second nature that a dialogue can be spouted out in advance of the actor saying his lines.

To police in a community like Hoffman Estates there is a reversal. A burglar alarm goes off at a local business and with rare exception it proves to be a false alarm.

This happens time after time and human nature brings about a complacency. But it is inevitable that an armed man is going to be inside on some occasion. The policeman had best be psyched to expect this at any time.

FOR THIS REASON the Hoffman Estates police department holds an in-service training program each year that all officers must attend.

A session on felonies in progress offers the patrolman a review of strategy used in criminal apprehension. Viewing a training session makes the average citizen appreciate that handling crime is a serious business.

The petty drama we involve ourselves with in front of our televisions becomes absurd.

In real life, a dozen Hoffman Estates policemen gather early on Monday mornings to review the importance of preparedness for any event that might take place.

Reminders to check guns, handcuffs and other equipment is shown on a film provided by the International Police Chief's Association.

AN AWARENESS OF crime patterns and detours in their patrol area is said to be essential.

And a strategy is planned for the successful apprehension of a criminal at the scene of a burglary or robbery.

In the film, police are told to approach the scene of a crime with their lights off and to use their hand brake when stopping the patrol car.

The hand brake is used so that a burglar is not warned by brake lights that the police have arrived.

Sgt. James Dutton told the Herald that Hoffman Estates police cars are equipped with a switch that allows officers to use their brake pedal without the brake light going on.

Following the film presentation, a round table discussion takes place allowing the police to adapt the film's strategy for apprehending criminals to the local community's needs.

An order for location call-ins and dispatches is established.

One car is sent to the scene of the crime to aid any victims and to check if the suspects are still present.

A SECOND CAR STAYS in the background, ready to move in if needed. Additional cars station themselves at key intersections to apprehend a fleeing suspect.

The car at the scene uses the phone to report their findings, descriptions and directions.

The entire discussion is taped and will be heard when a second group of Hoffman Estates police hold their class on "felonies in progress calls."

The in-service training for Hoffman Estates police is being run twice with half the force participating in each group.

FOUR SESSIONS ARE held for each group.

Subjects concerning handling juveniles, proper traffic stops, and public relations are included in the program.

Shotgun use and use of a tear gas adapter will be given to the first group next week along with instruction on collecting evidence.

Warman Is Expected At Democratic Dance

Important political figures, including Edward Warman, candidate for Congress, and Eugenia Chapman, state representative, will gather Friday night at Golden Acres Country Club for the annual Schaumburg Township Democratic Organization dance.

Schaumburg Township Democratic Committeeman John Morrissey said hopefully State Treasurer Adlai Stevenson and Cook County State's Atty. Edward Hanrahan will also be there.

Dance admission, $1 per person, may be paid at the door or tickets may be purchased from members of the Schaumburg Township Democratic organization. Coordinating ticket sales is Dorothy Quella, TW4-6859.

THE DANCE precedes by just four days the special congressional election Tuesday in which Warman faces Republican Philip Crane.

Although the 13th Congressional District is traditionally Republican, Morrissey said Warman could spring an upset. "Crane's ultra-conservatism and extremist views will prompt considerable support for Warman among independents and moderate Republicans," Morrissey said.

Village Must Pay Unaccounted Funds

The Village of Schaumburg must reimburse the Motor Fuel Tax (MFT) fund $4,583 for funds received in 1967 that cannot be accounted for.

Mayor Robert O. Atcher said at last week's village board meeting that vouchers were not found to show that the village does not owe that sum.

The audit by the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings shows that the salary for one engineer was reimbursed twice and that some items were purchased over accepted bid prices.

"WHEN THE MOTOR Fuel Tax department says we owe $4,583.49, and we don't have documents to prove otherwise, we have to pay," Atcher said.

Trustees voted to transfer $4,583 from the corporate fund to the MFT account.

The village president said that since Edwin Denman became public works director in mid-1968, procedure have been improved and it's unlikely such mistakes will be made now.

In other action trustees accepted the recommendation of the plans commission to approve phase I of Knightsbridge. This will be a single-family development north of the Churchill subdivision.

Dr. Martin Coniglio, chairman of the fire and police commission, announced that a patrolman's exam was held recently and the eligibility list includes 15 men.

Con-Con Voting Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimaginable by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics.

Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

Agree on Station Relocation

by GARY ZACNY

An agreement has been signed between Roselle and representatives of the Milwaukee Road to provide for relocation of the train station in Roselle and lease of railroad land as a parking lot near the new station.

The agreement is pending the outcome of the Nov. 22 referendum in which Roselle voters will decide whether to accept $125,000 in bonds to finance construction of new municipal parking lots.

Particulars of the agreement with the railroad very much favor Roselle. The railroad has agreed to lease a strip of its right-of-way, a section about 95 feet by 1,400 feet located north of the railroad overpass on Irving Park Road, at the nominal rate of $1 a year. In return, Roselle will pay for construction of a parking lot on the land and will construct a new train depot near the lot.

THE DOLLAR-A-YEAR rent will last until the village has paid off debts incurred in building a new depot and two new parking lots. Revenue from the parking spaces will defer those costs. When the debts are completely paid off, 60 per cent of the parking revenue will go to the village and 40 per cent will revert to the railroad.

Legal technicalities which might have blocked the project are handled by this sort of arrangement.

Roselle can legally construct municipal parking lots, but railroad land is the ideal location for the facility. The railroad has "no desire to go into the parking lot business," but it is willing to have its services improved by a contributing village.

Roselle cannot legally use village funds to improve a private enterprise. Thus, it cannot finance construction of a new depot. The railroad refuses to build a new depot for fear of setting a precedent which would mean paying for new stations all along the line.

Asks 'Make Learning Real'

Make the abstract process of learning real.

By encouraging students to participate and observe, the school should not isolate students from the living issues of the times.

In an appeal to the Palatine-Schaumburg High School Dist. 211 board of education, Quin MacLoughlin of PACEM (Palatine Area Citizens for an Enlightened Majority) told the board he felt relegating activities on current issues like the Moratorium to after school was placing too low a priority on their importance.

"Policies like the ones in the letter (sent out last week to parents) give the students a priority to use. It shows them what importance we place on the issues they are interested in," MacLoughlin said.

McLOUGHLIN SPOKE to the board at its meeting Thursday night about the policy letter sent to parents by Supt. G. A. McElroy. The letter said there would be no in-school observance of the November Moratorium.

"I'm suggesting the school follow-up on student initiative. The system should support inquiry and emotional involvement to make children think. The school should plan school-wide programs on issues."

Responding to a board member's question about the extension of Moratorium days into the school program, MacLoughlin said, "I'm not making a case for the Moratorium at all. It is a bad example."

"Are you suggesting we should allow students to leave school at their own whim?" James Humphrey, board member, asked.

"IN THE BROADEST terms, yes. Students should be able to get involved in every election year to learn by experiencing an event," MacLoughlin replied.

"The great bulk of students are apathetically performing, they are not the kind of students who will make a strong backbone of the democratic system."

According to MacLoughlin, when students express an interest in an issue, the school should allow them to participate in it.

"We have mock elections which they participate in and we have brought outspoken people to the schools to speak," Mrs. Carolyn Mullins, board member, said.

"There is a difference between a mock program and involvement. Students should see their school and learning experience as an involved response to their needs at this sensitive time in their development. They shouldn't feel they are not getting anywhere with their learning," MacLoughlin said.

AFTER McLOUGHLIN made his presentation, the board tried to explain the district's position.

"The line has to be drawn somewhere," Mrs. Mullins said. "Somewhere the three R's have to be taught."

"We can't let students just leave whenever they feel they want to get involved," Humphrey said. "Some students would take advantage of that kind of policy."

Dist. 211's three high schools, Fremd, Palatine and Conant, have had Moratorium activities initiated by students this fall. Fremd and Conant students made no requests for special programs in the November observance.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

FBI Investigates Wreck

The FBI has launched an investigation into the cause of Sunday's train wreck near Foundry and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights involving a Soo Line freight train and several Soo Line maintenance crew quarters cars.

Two railroad employees were injured in the mishap. Both remained in fair condition yesterday at Holy Family Hospital. Gilardo Cervantes, 23, of Schiller Park, was burned in the accident, James Miller, 53 of Minneapolis, suffered a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred about 8:10 p.m. when the northbound 63-car freight train, veered onto a spur on which several cars from a maintenance crew work train were being stored. Men living in the quarters cars have been working on railroad crossings in the Wheeling area.

THE FREIGHT TRAIN slammed into the quarters cars knocking several of them off the track and starting a fire in one of them. A track maintenance machine, also stored on the spur, was destroyed in the accident.

A spokesman for the railroad said yesterday that vandals apparently tampered with the switch that sent the freight train onto the siding.

Both the FBI and members of the Cook County Sheriff's Police are investigating the accident. An FBI official told the Herald yesterday that the agency was investigating the mishap for "a possible violation of the federal train wreck statute."

Among the quarters cars destroyed in the collision was one the maintenance crews used as a shower car. Railroad officials theorized that it was a propane gas water heater in the cars used for showers that started the fire.

FIREMEN FROM five area fire departments fought the blaze. Men from the Prospect Heights Fire Department sent three trucks to the fire.

A spokesman for the Forest River Fire Protection District said 20 men from his department fought the fire. Firemen brought the fire under control about an hour after they arrived, the spokesman said.

Vehicles from the Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Wheeling fire departments also answered the alarm.

Services Held For Mrs. Kinal

Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. James (Donna) Kinal, 29, an active member of the Hanover Township Young Republicans.

Mrs. Kinal, who lived in Streamwood, died Friday in Illinois Research Hospital.

She had lived in Streamwood about six years and was a member of the Young Republicans for the past 2½ years. Due to illness, she recently resigned as corresponding secretary. She had also served as publicity chairman for the organization.

Mrs. Kinal was a member of Advent Lutheran Church in the village. Services were held there Monday with burial at Forest Home Cemetery, Forest Park.

Survivors include her husband; daughter, Lee Lee; and sister, Patricia Ann Severinghaus of Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Dist. 54 Moves Friday

Dist. 54 school administrators will begin moving to the district's new administration center at the Helen Keller school site on Bode Road Friday. The new administration center is scheduled to be open for business Monday.

Administrative offices of the school district have been located in a model home leased from Hoffman-Rosner at 105 Audubon Place, Hoffman Estates.

The administrative center for Dist. 54 on Bode Road consists of four relocatable classrooms arranged in the shape of a capital H and joined by a center unit. The four relocatables will provide about 6,000 square feet of office space or three times the amount previously available in the model home.

OFFICES OF THE superintendent, assistant superintendent, director of business services, director of personnel and transportation, director of special services, and the curriculum director will be housed in the Dist. 54 administrative center.

The four relocatable buildings at Helen Keller Junior High were purchased by Dist. 54 from Harper Junior College for $10,000 each.

The telephone number at the new administrative center of Dist. 54 is 529-4200.

To Host Conference

Harper Junior College in Palatine will host a conference on audio-programmed instruction for community and junior college faculty members Nov. 21 and 22.

Faculty members from two-year public colleges adjoining the Harper district and from the GT/70 national consortium of community colleges have been invited to attend. The GT/70 group includes 10 of America's leading two-year colleges which share innovative programs in all areas, from instruction to business operations.

Conference keynote will be Dr. Sam Postlethwait, professor of biology at Purdue University and originator of the audio-tutorial systems approach to instruction. This educational method combines regular classroom sessions with independent taped instructions which allow each student to progress at his or her own rate.

CURRENTLY, THE college has audio-tutorial open labs in both secretarial science and IBM keypunch instruction. According to Dr. George Voegel, Harper's dean of learning resources, programs in dental hygiene and biology are in the development stage. "We expect to fund the dental audio-tutorial program through an Allied Health Professions Basic Improvement Grant from the Public Health Service of the Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW)," he said.

A summary panel discussion at noon on Saturday will wind up the program.

THE SPURRILOWS, a mobile music youth group, will appear in concert at 8 p.m. Nov. 19 at the First Presbyterian Church, 302 N. Dunton in Arlington Heights. The admission-free concert is being sponsored by Church Women United in Northwest Cook County, an ecumenical group representing more than 25 area churches.

Crane Group Plans Program

Arlington Heights residents are invited to meet Philip Crane, Republican candidate for Congress, in a program sponsored by the Arlington Heights Citizens for Crane Committee.

Crane will speak at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at the Northwest Trust and Savings Bank, 311 S. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights.

The local Citizens for Crane committee has invited all business people in Arlington Heights to the speech and the public is also welcome.

Crane, winner of the Republican Party nomination for Congress, will face Democrat Edward Warman Nov. 25 in the race's general election.

Form Adlai Group Backs VP's Blast

A "Stevenson for Senator" committee has been formed in the Northwest suburbs to support the bid of Adlai Stevenson III for U.S. senator.

Lester A. Bonaguro of Arlington Heights said committee members will be soliciting membership throughout the area.

"There is no question that Adlai Stevenson is the best candidate the Democratic Party can select for U.S. senator next year," Bonaguro said.

HE SAID STEVENSON "has a remarkable record of accomplishment as state treasurer, has experience as a legislator and is thoroughly knowledgeable about domestic and international affairs."

Bonaguro, who was a candidate for Constitutional Convention delegate in the Third District primary in September, called Stevenson a "formidable candidate to head the Democratic ticket."

"He is a man of unquestioned integrity and ability. Our nation is facing serious problems at home and abroad and we need a man to represent us in the Senate with new ideas and new solutions."

The Democratic primary will be March 17, 1970.

The Republican candidate for 13th District congressman has spoken out in support of Vice President Spiro Agnew's tirade against network television news.

Philip Crane of Winnetka, praised the vice president's recent speech on imbalance of news. Crane appeared before Republican precinct workers Sunday in Northbrook.

Crane called Agnew's address "provocative and long overdue."

"For too long we have tolerated unbalanced and distorted news coverage generated by a handful of producers, writers and commentators at the national level,"

Crane charged.

"THE SITUATION has deteriorated to the point where it is commonplace for national television commentators to substitute their views as news reporting."

He said Agnew's critique of network news has set an outstanding precedent for discussing openly the lack of balance and perspective in network news programs.

The candidate added constructive criticism is infinitely preferable to censorship, which would be far worse than the present problem.

Crane, victor of the Oct. 7 Republican primary for congressman, opposes Democrat Edward Warman in the Nov. 25 special congressional election. The special election was set when Donald Rumsfeld resigned as congressman.

Road Talk Slated

Thomas Cots, superintendent of the Cook County Highway Department, will be guest speaker Wednesday at the Northwest Municipal Conference.

Cots is to discuss county roadways. Also on the agenda is a report of the conference sponsored mass transportation study. Elk Grove Village Pres. Jack Pahl is to present the mass transportation report.

The conference, representing 17 area communities, will meet at 8 p.m. in Mount Prospect Village Hall.

To Present Crane

A jointly-sponsored program of Wheeling Township Republican organizations will present Philip Crane, Republican candidate for Congress, in a public address Thursday.

The event will be at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the Arlington Heights VFW Hall, at Yale and Northwest Highway.

The sponsoring groups are the Wheeling Township Republican Club, Women's Republican Club, Young Republicans, Republican Workshop, Republican Organization and Teen Age Republicans. (10A1)

Drive To Aid Cairo Families

A drive for food and clothing among three Arlington Heights churches is now under way in an effort to get essential materials from the Northwest suburbs to beleaguered Cairo, Ill.

Members of Faith Lutheran Church, 431 S. Arlington Heights Road, First United Methodist Church, 1902 E. Euclid and Southminster United Presbyterian Church, 916 E. Central, all in Arlington Heights, are sponsoring the drive.

COLLECTION OF CANNED food and clothing for children and adults is being conducted at eight dropoff points in the village.

Sponsors of the local drive selected Cairo as the recipient community because of the urgent need in the area for food-stuffs and clothing. According to members of the drive, Cairo, a community of some 8,500 persons, has 45 per cent of its families in substandard housing, 44 per cent of its families earning less than $3,000 per year, and is the number one poverty area in the state.

COMPLICATING THESE figures, according to members of the drive, has been a breakdown in government services in Cairo resulting in civic strife and "a community wide inability to relate effectively to sources of help in Washington or Springfield."

Aim of the local drive is to collect material in the Northwest suburbs for distribution in Cairo by the United Front organization headed by Father Montroy and

Center Offers Play School

On Saturday mornings, mothers may now leave their 3 to 8-year-old children at the Randhurst Shopping Center's new state-certified play school.

Supervised by two former teachers and a staff of high school girls, the play school provides entertainment and learning activities to about 75 youngsters each Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Town Hall, a spacious room at the east end of Randhurst's lower level.

"This is a model play school and is being closely observed by the State of Illinois Child Welfare authorities, as we are the first center to offer this service to our shoppers," said Mrs. Janese Busch, coordinator of the service.

"RANDHURST'S play school may well become the prototype for others in years to come. Child welfare authorities are interested in its success because it safeguards children who might otherwise be inadequately supervised while their mothers are shopping."

State regulation of the play school includes two stipulations for parents.

First, when a child is registered, he must bring evidence that he has had a physical examination by his physician within the last 6 months (or a parent must sign a release attesting to this). And second, the child must pay a 25 cent fee each time he attends the school.

Although children with such health problems as epilepsy or rheumatic heart disease will not be barred, their condition must be disclosed before they are admitted, according to Mrs. Busch.

"State authorities have already com-

Christmas Early

The Christmas spirit has arrived early at Randhurst.

Hundreds of Christmas trees, scores of huge candles mounted on pillars, and thousands of twinkling Italian lights set the mood for holiday shoppers.

"The stepped-up pace of Christmas shopping has already begun," says Richard B. McCarthy, promotion director, Randhurst Merchants' Association. "However, our Christmas shopping season officially starts the day after Thanksgiving when Santa arrives, our Forest Fairyland opens, and our expanded Christmas store hours start."

THIS YEAR, THE merchants at Randhurst will add Saturday evening and Sunday hours to accommodate their customers. For the first time, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., will be open on Sundays.

Beginning Nov. 28, Randhurst Shopping Center's official hours will be: Monday through Saturday — 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. (The three department stores will observe these hours, however, Wieboldt's will not stay open on Nov. 29 in the evening.)

Sundays (Nov. 30, Dec. 7, 14 and 21): Montgomery Ward — 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wieboldt's — 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Carson Pirie Scott & Co. — 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Other merchants will stay open Sundays from Noon until 5 p.m.

Santa will arrive at Randhurst at 9 a.m. Nov. 29, and there to welcome him and the pleted thorough inspections of teachers' credentials, provisions for safety and fire-prevention, health facilities and educational and play equipment," she added.

MRS. KAREN Houghton, supervisor of the school, taught first grade for seven years, and is now a substitute teacher for Arlington Heights Dist. 25. She has also worked for the Buffalo Grove Park District as a nursery school teacher. She is the mother of two sons, 16 and 9.

Assisting Mrs. Houghton are Mrs. Sharon Stobe, a former kindergarten teacher and several teen-age girls who are experienced leaders in Campfire and Bluebird activities.

Among the recreation facilities at the play school are a boys' corner, with gigantic blocks and other equipment for large-muscle activity; a child-size playhouse; and a game table, where youngsters can learn and play box games or card games with a leader and other children.

A color television set is there for fans of certain Saturday morning cartoon programs.

IN ADDITION, there are puzzle and coloring tables and a reading corner where a leader reads aloud to the children. Fruit juice is served during the morning.

"When parents leave their child — or children — they must sign the name tag which the child wears," Mrs. Busch said. "When they pick up their child, they must sign again so that we can check their identity. Nothing is left to chance."

In order to assure that the parents are never out of touch with their children, the play school supervisors can use the Randhurst paging system. If a child should become anxious or ill, his parents can be reached anywhere in the shopping center.

The thorough precautions and preparations seem to have forestalled any major difficulties according to Mrs. Busch. "During the past few 'testing' weeks, there have been few tears and much enjoyment."

"With the Christmas shopping season now on, parents have told us they get much more accomplished knowing that their children are well cared for and happy. That's what we like to hear."

Plan Holiday Teen Program

Musical entertainment, speakers, seminars, ice skating, swimming and other activities will be offered to teenagers who attend a four-day conference at Arlington Park Towers Hotel, Arlington Heights.

The Holiday Teen convention will be Dec. 28 through 31 and will draw about 2,000 high school students from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

The $31 price for the four days includes swimming, the cost of the hotel with four to a room, meals, seminars and other events. Skiing and ice skating will be the only activities which will cost extra.

OPEN TO NORTHWEST suburban, North Shore and Lake County high school students, the convention will include special sessions entitled "Crisis in Black and White," "The Real You," "College Hang-ups" and "Does Love Make It Right?"

Planned by Campus Life, a non-denominational youth organization, the four days will also include large meetings featuring a variety of musical entertainment.

For more information, students may contact the Campus Life organization in their local high schools or call the local Campus Life office, 259-5144.

School Menus

The following lunches will be served Wednesday in area schools where a hot lunch program is provided (subject to change without notice):

St. Viator High School: Beef biscuit roll, buttered green beans, sliced pineapple, hot biscuits, butter and milk. A la carte: Hot dog, hamburger, cheeseburger, thrasher, barbecue, chili, soup, French fries, dessert.

Sacred Heart of Mary High School: Main dish (one choice) chopped beef on toast, hamburger in a bun.

Dist. 211: Hamburger in a bun, baked beans, lettuce salad or orange juice, sliced pineapple and milk.

Dist. 214: Main dish (one choice) pork cutlet, barbecue in a bun, wiener in a bun. Vegetable (one choice) whipped potatoes, hot potato salad, sauerkraut, buttered corn. Salad (one choice) fruit juice, tossed salad, lettuce wedge, molded cherry, diced peaches-orange sunset. Cinnamon coffee bread, butter and milk. Available desserts: Pineapple slices, tapioca pudding, apple pie, peanut butter cake, chocolate cookies.

Dist. 15: Hamburger in a bun, chilled tomato juice, buttered mixed vegetables, chilled apricots and milk.

Dist. 23: Thanksgiving dinner — turkey, bread dressing, sweet potato, cranberry salad, pumpkin pie and milk.

Dist. 25: Roast turkey with dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, buttered green beans, hot roll, pumpkin pie and milk.

Dist. 26: Spaghetti with meat sauce, buttered French bread, buttered green beans, lime gelatin and milk.

Dist. 21, 54 and 59: Hamburger on a buttered bun, pickles, French fried potatoes, ranch beans and milk.

Stamp Group Plans Program

Philatelists have something to look forward to on Nov. 30 when the Northwest Philatelic Club sponsors "Kids Day" at Pioneer Park, Arlington Heights.

The local stamp collectors will issue free stamps to all young collectors. Penny stamp tables and higher grade stamps will also be available.

The show will be from noon to 5 p.m. Recent winners in the St. Viator stamp exhibit have been announced by members of the Philatelic Club.

The winners and their categories included:

GEORGE SCHEETZ, technical stamp exhibit; Greg Scheetz, small countries; George Scheetz, Africa; Bog Kowall, word display using stamps and Keith Johnson, Vatican and United Nations.

Judges for the contest were Sister Judith Waldron, Sacred Heart school; Pat Bosart, student at St. Viator, and H. W. Liebetrau, president of the Northwest Philatelic Club.

Offer Gift Wrapping

The Randhurst Merchants Association is providing a free gift wrapping service to customers who purchase a $5 (or more) gift in any of the Randhurst stores, during holiday selection days, Nov. 20 through 22.

The gift wrapping booth, located on the mall during these days, will be staffed by professional gift wrappers who, upon receipt of the sales check, will wrap the gift in red, green or gold foil.

Marilyn Raedel Is Junior Miss

A full house saw Marilyn Raedel of Prospect Heights and Garnet Vaughan of Arlington Heights named Paddock Publications' Junior Misses in the fifth annual Junior Miss Pageant held Sunday evening at Elk Grove High School.

Marilyn, a senior at Wheeling High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Raedel, 16 N. Wildwood Drive, and Garnet, a senior at Hersey High, is the daughter of Mrs. Garnet L. Vaughan, 1215 N. Waterman.

Each girl received a $250 scholarship and opportunity to represent their home communities in the Illinois' Junior Miss Pageant at Niles Dec. 20 - Jan. 3.

Runnersup in the 1969-70 Paddock Pageant finals were Janice Rodgers of Mount Prospect and Kay Ellen Hoarn of Arlington Heights. Each received a $125 scholarship.

JANICE, a senior at Prospect High School, also was winner of the $50 Scholastic Achievement Award. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles E. Rodgers, 211 Withern Lane. Kay Ellen, a senior at Wheeling, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hearn, 514 Burningtreet Lane.

Winner of the $50 Talent Award was Mary Tuomi of Arlington Heights, a senior at Arlington High and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Tuomi, 221 S. Illinois Drive.

Seventeen senior girls participated in the finals of this year's Pageant. Judging Sunday evening was on youth fitness and talent.

On hand to congratulate the winners and pin on their sashes was Pamela Weir, winner last year and the reigning Illinois' Junior Miss. Pam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Weir of Arlington Heights, is a freshman at Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington.

SMILES TELL THE STORY. Paddock Junior Misses for 1969-70 name Sunday evening are Marilyn Raedel of Prospect Heights, left, and Garnet Vaughan of Arlington Heights.

Jaycees Hold Model Con-Con

Nine Northwest suburban Jaycees will participate in the Illinois Jaycees Model Constitutional Convention in Springfield this weekend.

The nine, and 107 from the rest of Illinois, will be delegates charged with rewriting the Illinois Constitution.

They include Mark Burrow, Joe Engel, Bob Kazlauskis and Bob Reiter, all of Arlington Heights; Marv Bauman and Jerry Miller of Hoffman Estates; Ed Murnane of Palatine; John Stull of Prospect Heights; and Charles Smith of Streamwood.

The area men will represent the North Region of Illinois Jaycees.

THE MODEL Con-Con is the first to be held in the state in which all areas of Illinois are represented. Delegations from each region were determined by the Jaycee population in the region. There are 21 delegates from the North Region.

The product of the three-day session will be presented to the Illinois Constitutional Convention when it opens Dec. 8. The Jaycees' document is intended to be representative of the thinking of men between the ages of 21 and 35.

Delegates to the real Con-Con, to be elected today throughout the state, will be invited to the Jaycees convention.

The convention is the second step for Illinois Jaycees in support of constitutional revision. The state organization was active in working for the call of the convention last year.

Lindstrom To Speak To Young Republicans

The Rev. Paul Lindstrom of Prospect Heights, the controversial minister active in calling for the release of United States servicemen from Communist countries, will speak before the Young Republican club of Wheeling Township Friday, Nov. 21.

Rev. Lindstrom will speak at 8 p.m. in the Randhurst Holiday Inn, across from the Randhurst shopping center.

The Young Republicans will also vote on new officers for the club.

The Lighter Side

Friendly Skies?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Aviation Administration reports it is having some success with a secret antihijacking system that is being tested at an undisclosed number of unidentified airports.

All the FAA will say about the system is that it screens passengers according to "psychology-based behavior profiles." The profiles were developed after the backgrounds of hijackers were studied to determine certain common behavior traits.

Any passengers whom the profiles fit apparently are detained for questioning and possible search.

I'm delighted, of course, that the system looks promising and I certainly wouldn't want to do anything that might compromise it. I couldn't help wondering, however, just what behavior traits hijackers have in common.

If the FAA will permit a bit of speculation on that point, it is my guess that a psychology based behavior profile might shape up something like this:

A swarthy man wearing a floppy straw hat, a serape and huaraches slides into the airport terminal. He is smoking a Cuban cigar and has a copy of "The Diary of Che Guevara" under his arm.

After a few furtive glances at the guard at the door, he approaches the ticket counter. He appears to be extremely nervous. Speaking with a heavy Spanish accent, he says "What time does the next plane leave for Havana . . . oops, I mean Miami?"

"Flight 1107 departs for Miami at 11:08 a.m., sir."

Dick West

"I would like a ticket, please. One-way." "Very well, sir. Will that be first class or coach?"

"Which one is closer to the pilot?" "The first-class cabin is directly behind the pilot's compartment."

"Okay, make it first class." "Very well, sir. Do you have any luggage?"

"Just this rifle." "Would you like us to check it for you?" "No thanks. I'll keep it in my seat with me."

"As you wish, sir. Would you like us to reserve ground transportation for you at the Miami Airport?"

"No, thanks. I won't be landing at Miami."

"But this is a nonstop flight, sir."

"Would you like to bet on that?" "We aren't allowed to gamble, sir. Here is your ticket and thank you for flying with TransPan Airlines."

Shoes in Bride's Bouquet

There was "rawther" an English flavor to the wedding of Elizabeth Barnes and Paul R. Hernandez, Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnes of Portage, Ind., had a pair of English shoes in her bouquet for luck, and an English sixpence in her shoe. Scottish pipers preceded the couple into the wedding reception at the Saddle and Siroin Room of the Stockyard Inn.

Elizabeth and Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hernandez, 8 E. Jeffrey Ave., Wheeling, were married Oct. 11 in Immanuel Lutheran Church in Valparaiso, Ind., where the bride attended Valparaiso University. One hundred eighty guests attended the reception in Chicago.

TWO VASES OF WHITE carnations decorated the church for the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony; Rev. Paul G. Bretscher officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white, Victorian-style long, A-line gown of satin faille with Alencon lace. An empire waist, mandarin collar and full sleeves with fitted wrists were features of the gown. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a pillbox headpiece, and besides the good luck shoes, her cascade bouquet included white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Nancy L. Genz of Evanston was matron of honor, and Mrs. Kay Coates, also of Evanston, and Mrs. Janet Steffens of Glenview were bridesmaids. All wore dark sapphire blue velvet A-line gowns with white lace bibs, cuffs and collars. Their matching headpieces held blusher veils, and they carried cascades of white pompon mums.

THE BRIDE'S MOTHER chose a pale pink dress with lace bodice and chiffon skirt. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Hernandez chose a pale blue, sleeveless sheath with matching jacket and a corsage of pale yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hernandez

David E. Carl of Wheeling was best man to the groom, and ushers were William Richtfort of Arlington Heights and Gerald Wienkowski of Wheeling.

The newlyweds, who met at their place of employment, Bell and Howell in Lincolnwood, Ill., honeymooned for a week in Indiana and Kentucky. The groom, a '64 graduate of Arlington High School, attended Wright Junior College.

Fluoride, An Essential Nutrient

When young children get the proper amount of fluoride in their food and drink, the enamel in their teeth becomes harder so that tooth decay does not readily occur. At least 50 per cent fewer cavities are seen in children who ingest enough fluoride from the time they are infants, compared with those who do not, and their teeth also are apt to be more attractive, according to the Nutrition Foundation.

Now it is becoming evident that when older people have had enough fluoride in their systems throughout their lives, their bones are stronger and do not break easily. They are less likely to suffer from fractured hips and other disabling bone conditions that plague many elderly people, the Nutrition Foundation reports.

FLUORIDE IS AN essential nutrient. It is present in trace amounts in practically all soils, water supplies, plants and animals. Therefore some of it is in everyone's diet. Unfortunately, in many areas of the U.S. and other parts of the world there is not enough natural fluoride in the soil where food is grown, or in the water, to supply all of man's need for this mineral. This is why fluoride is added to water supplies in the amount of one part per million (fluoridation) to provide the proper level of fluoride.

Other methods of getting enough fluoride into people's diets do not reach those who need it most. Preschool children, whose bones and teeth are being formed, must have the optimum amount of fluoride if they are to grow to be sturdy.

SOME COUNTRIES, such as Switzerland, add fluoride to table salt. It is possible to add it to bread or other foods, or to take tablets containing fluoride. But the amount of fluoride actually ingested each day is uncertain. In many instances, particularly in low income families, young children do not obtain the daily level of fluoride they need. Fluoride can also be applied directly to the teeth as a decay prevention method.

The money saved on dental bills through fluoridation of a community's water supplies can be substantial. A graph prepared by Charles W. Gish of the Indiana State Board of Health shows that for every $100,000 spent on fluoridation, cavities which would cost more than $600,000 to fix are prevented. Self-application of fluoride brings returns of more than $200,000. But for every $100,000 spent in topical application of fluorides by a dentist or other professional, the return is only about $80,000 of cavities prevented or restored.

THE UNITED STATES Public Health Service information office states that 74.5 million people in the United States use water in which the fluoride content is controlled, and another 8.3 million drink water which already has the proper amount of fluoride. These 82.9 million people represent 52.6 per cent of the population served by public water supplies and 40.9 per cent of the total population.

As of mid-1969 the following states require fluoridation by law: Connecticut, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, Delaware, South Dakota, Massachusetts and Puerto Rico. If this trend were followed by other states it would be an excellent public health measure, says the Nutrition Foundation.

PEO Musical Treat

The Christmas meeting of chapter FW of PEO will be held on Thursday, Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. O. F. Lyman, 628 Mayfair, Arlington Heights, where the Harmonettes will present a musical program.

In lieu of a Christmas exchange, members will bring canned foods for the Common Pantry.

The annual welfare workshop was held at the November meeting at the home of Mrs. C. L. Johnson of Arlington Heights, with Mrs. Ivan Cole as co-hostess. The women prepared materials for use by the Clearbrook Center for the Retarded.

About the Apollo 12 Crew

Those Funloving Moon Men

by DAURELL MACK

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The astronauts of America's second flight to the moon are graduates of the Navy Test Pilot School at Patuxent River, Md. They are a glamorous and funloving bunch as fits that mythic breed.

But it is all seriousness when Cmdrs. Charles H. Conrad, Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean talk about their Apollo 12 space mission.

Together they form the most diminutive crew the United States has sent into space. Conrad and Gordon teamed up in 1966 aboard Gemini 11 to perform the first orbital docking of two spacecraft. Apollo 12 will be Bean's first space flight.

Conrad, who is in command of the flight, and Bean, pilot of the lunar lander "Intrepid," will land on the moon Wednesday. Gordon will pilot the spaceship, which they have named "Yankee Clipper," and will remain with the craft in lunar orbit while Conrad and Bean walk the moon's surface.

CONRAD, WHO stands 5-foot-6 inches and weighs 138 pounds, is the smallest astronaut. Gordon is a little bigger at 5-foot-6 and 150 pounds and Bean is the tallest—5-foot-9 and also 150 pounds.

The names Conrad and Gordon go together in the space program, and not just because they flew the two-man Gemini 11 mission.

"Pete and Dick have been banging around together for years, more than the other astronauts," a friend said. "They both came in from the same squadron in San Diego, Calif."

They both race boats, drive matching sports cars, love to party and are extremely competitive. Conrad and Gordon came from opposite backgrounds. Conrad was born into a third generation family in Philadelphia's Main Line society. His father was an investment broker and his neighbors included a former secretary of the Navy and a secretary of defense.

He went to exclusive prep schools and to Princeton University.

GORDON CAME from Seattle, Wash. His father died when he was a child and his mother taught school and put Dick through the University of Washington. Gordon, a left-hander, was an outstanding golfer in college and was good enough to be a semipro pitcher in baseball.

Conrad, who took up flying at 14, joined the Navy after graduation in 1953.

Bean, youngest of the crew at 37 (Conrad is 39 and Gordon is 40), grew up in Fort Worth, Tex., and went to the University of Texas. His father said Alan has been interested in flying since he was a toddler.

On his 17th birthday, even before he graduated from high school, Bean wanted to join the Naval Reserve at Dallas Naval Air Station. His mother wouldn't sign the papers, so he persuaded his father—a veteran of World War II—to sign.

AFTER RECEIVING an aeronautical degree, Bean became a Navy test pilot. At one point he had to decide whether to apply for the astronaut program or become a member of the Blue Angels, the Navy's jet aerobatics team.

Bean was accepted as an astronaut in October, 1963, a member of the so-called third astronaut class along with Gordon, Apollo 11 spaceman Michael Collins and others. Conrad became an astronaut in 1962.

Bean has waited six years for his first chance to fly in space.

Jane Conrad, wife of the Apollo 12 commander, is the daughter of a Texas cattle rancher who is remembered from her girl's prep school days for riding and jumping horses bareback and barefoot and her ability to draw.

She has done portraits of the four Conrad boys—Peter, 14; Thomas, 12; Andrew, 10; and Christopher, 8.

JANE MET her future husband while he was at Princeton and she was attending Bryn Mawr, a woman's college in the Philadelphia Main Line.

Gordon and Bean also met their wives at college—Gordon saw Barbara on a golf course and Bean first encountered Sue at a gymnastic meet.

The Gordons have six children, more than any other of the 52 astronauts. They are Carleen, 15, Richard III, 14; Lawrence, 11; Thomas, 10; James, 9; and Diane, 8.

Sue Bean, a native of Dallas, Tex., is a beautiful platinum blonde whose wardrobe is as elegant as the furnishings of her house.

THE BEANS have two children, Amy Sue, 6, and Clay, 13.

Bean and Gordon live within six blocks of each other in Nassau Bay, an unincorporated community across the street from the spacecraft center. Conrad lives in an unpretentious home about eight miles away in Timber Cove, the first new subdivision built near the space center.

Hepburn's Niece Makes It on Own

by WILLIAM VERIGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Mark Hellinger Theater's marquee spells out the news in bright lights, and the box office is raking in money at a brisk pace although opening night isn't until the middle of December. This is where Katharine Hepburn will star in "Coco," and her return to Broadway is enough to spring hope in the dreariest of seasons.

But just 19 blocks away is another theater, the Martinique, and if the stray tourists don't look closely they won't even notice it as they hurry past on their way to the Empire State Building nearby. Through a hotel lobby, past a row of out-of-order telephone booths, down a steep stairway and through a narrow hallway are the cast's two dressing rooms, one for men and one for women.

Behind the appropriate door is Katharine Houghton. In the past her name usually has been followed by a comma and the phrase "niece of Katharine Hepburn." But since she opened in the Off-Broadway hit, "A Scent of Flowers," her name has been seen more often without the comma and phrase. Suddenly she has been accepted on her own merits.

"WHEN I WAS in 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner' the only thing they knew about me was that I was Katharine Hepburn's niece," the 23-year-old Vassar graduate said in an interview. "Now they ask about her much less."

Of course, the similarities are noted, too — the high cheekbones, fine hair, delicate complexion and gentle, yet somehow forceful voice. "There's a resemblance among everyone in the family," Miss Houghton said.

People who saw "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" remarked about the similarity, but it has become even more noticeable since Miss Houghton has lost weight for "A Scent of Flowers."

She isn't reluctant to discuss her role in the film in which she played a bubbling debutante who brings her black fiancé (Sydney Poitier) home to father (Spencer Tracy) and mother (Miss Hepburn). But she makes it clearly understood that it's a stage of her career that she'll never pass through again.

"I DON'T REGRET that I was in 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner,' she said, "because it gave me an opportunity to get to know my aunt, and it was a worthwhile experience to work with Sydney Poitier and Spencer Tracy. But the role offered nothing because it was so one-dimensional."

As a child, there had always been a part of the house in Connecticut set aside so Katharine and her friends could put on their little dramas, and one of her favorite parts was to play Joan of Arc and brandish a sword while racing across the moat wall. Her part in her first movie didn't have much to offer after the drama of being Joan of Arc.

After she returned to New York, Miss Houghton received offers, plenty of them, to appear in other movies.

"I turned so many down that they thought I had left the business and they stopped making offers," she said. "But I was only looking for a good character role, a good script and a good director. I didn't want to play an ingenue. I simply don't believe in youthful innocence, and you have to believe to play an ingenue."

SHE APPEARED in a limited run of the revival of the comedy "The Front Page" earlier this year to find out if her voice would carry in a large theater. She found out that she could be heard, but no one seemed to notice.

Even while she was in "The Front Page," she was looking forward to starring in "A Scent of Flowers." She plays the part of a girl who has died, and on the day that she is to be buried her life leading up to her death flashes back. And for the first time, it is a part that belongs to her.

The girl in the play is torn between her religion and a love affair with a married professor. The girl also is a quiet, introspective student who is interested in philosophy.

"I was sick during high school," she recalled, "and because I was tutored privately, I got way ahead of myself. I became ardently religious. My parents had never been particularly religious, and about the time I convinced them to become staunch members of the church and my father became a deacon, I had become an ardent atheist."

In college she was a philosophy major and became interested in Jung and the realm of spirits, and when she has time between acting and making her own clothes and painting, she hopes someday to write a scholarly work on Tarot cards. There's a lot more to Katharine Houghton than simply being the niece of Katharine Hepburn.

'Chances Are' Party

"Chances Are" is the name the freshman mothers of St. Viator High School are calling the evening of cards and other games they have planned for Friday evening in the Red Lion Room of the school. The donation covers not only the evening's entertainment but sandwiches and snacks as well. There will also be a bar, according to Mrs. Ronald Marwitz, chairman.

For further information and tickets readers may call: Mrs. James Boyle; 253-0894; Mrs. John Carley, 253-4829; Mrs. Edward Earley, 359-4772; or Mrs. H. K. Seiber, 824-5943.

St. Theresa Parish Dances for Charity

The Knights of Columbus Hall in Barrington will be the site of the annual fall dance of the St. Theresa Council of Catholic Women Saturday, Nov. 29, at 8:30.

Music for the Palatine parish's happening will be provided by David Hans and his group, who promise to bridge the generation gap by playing both modern and traditional tunes.

Proceeds from the "Council Copers" will be used to furnish a science lab for St. Theresa School. Tickets are available from Mrs. Richard Ernst, 359-2276.

Old Eyeglasses Needed for Needy

New Eyes for the Needy, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization in Short Hills, N. J., needs used eyeglasses and sunglasses which are not broken, soft cases, metal frames, and old gold and silver jewelry including watches. This volunteer group, endorsed by several national organizations including the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, has aided more than a half million persons.

Collection containers have been placed in drugstores, banks, and supermarkets in Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines and Prospect Heights for the month of November by the Northwest Suburban Chapter of Delta Gamma. This is the chapter's ninth annual collection, and each year they have sent between 2,000 and 3,000 pairs of glasses to New Eyes.

The gold and silver jewelry is sent to a refinery to help pay for new prescription glasses and artificial eyes for needy in the United States. Simple, non-stigmatic glasses are used as is and sunglasses are sent to medical missions for leprosy patients whose eyes are sensitive to sunlight.

Busy Week for Palatine Newcomers

Tomorrow (Wednesday) is the date for the Newcomers of Palatine Luncheon at the Farman Hotel in Lake Zurich, with cocktails at noon and lunch at 12:30 p.m.

Newcomers will get a chance to see "Rembrandt After 300 Years" at the Art Institute of Chicago Thursday. Interested newcomers should meet at the train station in Palatine at 8:53 where the group will board the train for a trip in the city.

THE THEATER group will meet at the home of Mrs. John Crimmons at 7 p.m. Saturday for cocktails, then board a bus for a trip to the Ivanhoe Theater where they will see "TCHIN'TCHIN" starring Jessica Tandy.

These groups are just a few of the activities available to members of the Newcomers of Palatine with paid membership.

Women new to the Palatine area interested in learning more about the club may call Mrs. Robert Fernbacher, 358-6043.

Mrs. Robert Simon Is La Leche Hostess

The third meeting in a new series of La Leche League of Mount Prospect is scheduled for tomorrow evening (Wednesday). The 8:30 session will be held in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Robert Simon, 129 N. Stratton Lane.

"What shall I do if my 3-year-old wants to nurse again?" "What is the father's role in relation to the nursing mother and baby?" "How do I explain nursing to my older child?" These questions will be among those answered and discussed at the meeting which will center around the arrival of the breastfed baby and its relation to the family.

Women interested in learning more about breastfeeding are encouraged to attend the meeting; babies are also welcome. Further information may be obtained by calling the hostess at 299-2168.

He Met Her at the Ball Game

Percy Hertels Wed 60 Years

"You've got to be a baseball hero to get along with the beautiful girls!" So goes an old song, and so it was with Percy Hertel, who first met Della Meyer when he played shortstop and second base on the Arlington Heights baseball team.

That was more than six decades ago, and Della, 83, and Percy, 85, have now marked 60 years of marriage which they celebrated at an anniversary open house last Thursday.

Reared in Arlington Heights, Della was born in Des Plaines, the daughter of John Meyer and the former Emma Geils. Her father died when she was very young, and Della's mother remarried, becoming Mrs. Henry Russell. Della attended both the Arlington Heights public school and St. Peter Lutheran School.

PERCY WAS BORN in Waukegan and roared in Half Day. His family later moved to the Jefferson Park area of Chicago, and he attended Jefferson Park High School which later became Carl Schurz. Percy also played with the semi-professional Logan Square baseball team, and to this day he is an avid sports enthusiast, keeping up with baseball and other sporting events via television.

The couple were married Nov. 13, 1909, in St. Peter Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights by Rev. Noack. During their early years of marriage, they lived in Chicago where their children, Ethel, Fred J. and Roger were born.

In 1920 they returned to Arlington Heights where they rented, for two years, the John Whiting home on Campbell Street, which later became the Arlington Heights American Legion Hall. They lived in their own home at 629 W. Campbell for nearly 20 years, and for a time lived just around the corner on Mitchell. For the past 20 years, they have resided in the old Scharringhausen family home at 306 W. Campbell.

The quaintness of Arlington Heights and the unpaved streets in those days are but memories now for the Hertels.

PERCY RETIRED FROM the Continental Illinois Bank, Chicago, in 1949. Della is a charter member of the Arlington Heights Order of the Eastern Star and belongs to the women's group at the Presbyterian Church. Her hobbies include sewing and crocheting for family and friends.

The couple's daughter, Mrs. Frank Koehler, resides in Des Plaines. Fred and his wife, Ruth, live in Lexington, Tenn., and Roger and his wife, Marie, live at 928

S. Dunton in Arlington Heights.

The couple has five grandchildren, all girls, and eight great-grandchildren, four boys and four girls. Youngest of the great-grandchildren are Matthew Taylor and Dustin Dallison who will be 2 years old early next year. Oldest of the great-grandchildren is Steven Meyer, who will be 10 this month.

Area Newcomers 'Travel' to Siam

MRS. EUNICE LOWERY

Mrs. Eunice Lowery of International Parties Co., Des Plaines, will present a travelogue, "Siam, Land of Smiles," for Mount Prospect Welcome Wagon Newcomers meeting tomorrow (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. in Mount Prospect Country Club.

While spending two years in Thailand, Mrs. Lowery acquired many native items from the Orient. Friends became interested in the crafts, and before she knew it, she found herself in the import business.

DURING HER travelogue she will display hand-carved teak pieces, hand-woven silk and silk scarves, precious stone rings, earthenware and hand-rubbed bronze.

Mrs. Jack Anderson and Mrs. Bruce Nelson are hostesses for the evening and Mrs. Daniel Brucki is in charge of refreshments. Those wishing further information about the club may call 259-1798.

Meadows Juniors Show Off Hats

The Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club took part in a creative hat contest at their November meeting. Members modeled their original creations, assembled from odds and ends found at home.

Mrs. Howard Wurster copped first place for her flower hat made entirely from envelopes. Mrs. Rudolph Schneider's "little Bill" creation stole second, and the "snake charmer" hat of Mrs. Edward Peszek won third place.

The Juniors' membership swelled as Mrs. Walter Sergot presided over a candlelit ceremony installing Mrs. Thomas Hansen, Mrs. Julius Gelber, Mrs. Donald Spiller, Mrs. Thomas Morris, and Mrs. Lon Morrey.

After the initiation, Mrs. Sergot stressed individuality to further club potentials, federation work, and community service. The Rolling Meadows Juniors are affiliated with the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Juniors meet in the evening hours at the Rolling Meadows fire hall on the second Monday of each month. Those interested in the club may contact Mrs. Lawrence Kellerman at 392-7571.

The 'Nu Look' Wigs

A "nu look" is the theme of the big demonstration slated by Faculty Wives Club of District 211 for Friday, Nov. 21, at 8 p.m. in the Faculty Dining Room in Palatine High School.

The demonstration, presented by a fashion house, is open to all faculty wives and staff members of the district. Friends are also welcome.

Progressive Dinner

"History of American Dress" will be the topic of Miss Clairan Soli at the annual progressive dinner of Lambda Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi tomorrow (Wednesday). Hostesses for the 7 p.m. dinner will be Mrs. James Ransom, Mrs. Anker Anderson and Mrs. Peter Moga, all of Palatine.

Members will bring pre-holiday gifts for Little City of Palatine.

The Way We See It

'Living' Memorials

In almost every American community, there is some kind of memorial to men who have died in war.

Their purpose is noble: to extend a gesture of appreciation for the soldiers' ultimate sacrifice, and to show that the people at home don't forget.

The pity is that too many people do forget, despite the presence in the village square or local cemetery of a monument designed to hold the memory as firm and as permanent as granite.

Often, only the monument is permanent, and then its gesture becomes an empty, meaningless token.

A week ago today, in a Veteran's Day story, staff writer Murray Dubin reported on a tour of the memorials honoring the war dead of the Northwest suburbs. He found a pattern of good intent and sad performance.

The memorials were there, in almost every town. And, in almost every town, the memorials themselves needed remembering.

Some had flag poles which flew no flags; one was hidden by weeds; another had no plaque; one had its message covered by dirt and moss; one rested in the shadow of the toll-way, where there could be no tranquility.

These monuments — all of them — had been installed amid great ceremony. Now, the words of the ceremonies have drifted away, the meaning has been all but forgotten, and the monuments serve virtually no purpose.

The problem is not monuments, but the kind of monuments that we establish to remember our dead.

It is too easy, and too sterile, to put up a piece of granite and bronze and say that will do as a memorial to victims of war. The most that can guarantee is a notation of the day the granite and bronze was erected, a remembrance of that, and not necessarily what it symbolizes.

Only people can keep that alive, and it's too easy for them to overlook something as unobtrusive and solemn as a war dead memorial. It's too easy for them to be satisfied that that is enough, and let the dead rest in peace.

We think much more is needed — that when we remember our war victims, we do it with meaning and something more positive than cold stone.

We urge the idea of "living memorials," something that would perpetuate the memory of war sacrifice, and pull some good out of it.

Particularly, we like the idea of academic scholarships being established by each community — dedicated in the name of one son, or all the sons, that community has surrendered in war.

Funds could be established by voluntary subscription or by village levy, and be used in succeeding years to help at least one person each year meet the cost of higher education.

Such a living memorial would automatically perpetuate the memory of the war dead, involve the community much more actively than can a stone in a graveyard, and bring something meaningful out of local and national tragedy.

Certainly, it would be money better spent than on rock, metal, weeds, moss and barren flagpoles.

A Matter of Life and Death

Palatine Today

They Came to Talk, Listen

by MARTHA KOPER

Probably no one expected a stark revelation in Palatine Saturday morning.

Maybe that's why only 100 people showed up at the rally called to discuss the war in Vietnam. But those who decided it would be more comfortable at home missed something.

Aside from the orderly, probing discussion, there was something to be proud of there. The kids who came didn't come to cause trouble. They simply wanted to learn.

We sometimes forget how the young process of thought is never satisfied. The rally provided a good reminder.

Most of the young people who participated in the discussion knew more about Vietnam before the rally started than a lot of their adult counterparts.

BUT THAT WASN'T enough for them. They wanted to probe even deeper into the why's of our country's involvement in Vietnam.

Whether they found the rally a satisfactory learning place is questionable and raises serious questions about the dilemma of youth today.

With the United States involved in the most controversial conflict in our history, it's only natural students want to know all about it.

Of course, some adults do, too. But they seem to have forgotten how to persist the facts.

On Saturday, a couple of speakers and several people in the audience pointed out the need for a similar discussion in school. Although some area schools provided seminars after class hours on Friday, obviously students didn't feel their needs cuss the war come only after regular school time?

Certainly, the war has been going on long enough for school administrators to realize the need for everyday discussion.

It appears our school systems are so entrenched in the tradition that a course cannot be changed to cover the contemporary.

Included in high school course offerings should be a class entitled "The War in Vietnam." You can be sure if and when the war is over, today's kindergartners will be reading about it when they reach high school.

But traditional education seems to dictate the study of history. We must wait until the boys come home before we can study a war.

All those who attended Palatine's rally are to be commended. It is young people like those who will play significant roles in the future of our country, and if they continue on the path they carved Saturday morning, there's nothing to worry about in the future except today's adults.

The Fence Post

Offers Pity for Liberals

Pity the plight of the poor liberal living in this land of conservatives! Just take some of the headlines in the Herald of Wednesday, Nov. 12:

DENY PARK M-DAY RALLY; M-DAY POLICY "SAD"; and LIBRARY TV FATE FATE DELAYED

According to an account of the park board's discussion, board member Roy Bressler was quoted as being against allowing the use of Pioneer Park auditorium for a Vietnam Moratorium Rally because it was "clearly in conflict with the high school policies" (not true) and because the Rally would be organized by groups outside Arlington Heights (doesn't he know that the parks in the State of Illinois belong to all of the people in the state?).

On the night Dist. 214 board met as a committee of the whole to discuss guidelines to be laid down to their principals for M-DAY, they had so much trouble putting the proper words together to express their feelings that one citizen who had come to oppose recognition of M-Day accused them of trying to leave the door open for some sort of M-Day activity while another had exactly the opposite impression.

AND WHY CAN'T the library board come to a decision about SPY TV? Is it getting too hot to handle? Are some of them afraid of public reaction?

It's really too bad that our elected officials have to worry as much as they do about making decisions . . . don't they know they can't satisfy all of the people all of the time? Are the members of these civic boards who contribute their time and expertise to the community so politically inclined they can't intelligently examine the facts of a case and then vote according to their conscience?

Come to think of it, I should really pity the plight of the poor conservative officeholder knowing there's a liberal lurking around every corner to nag at him.

Moratorium Rules Make No Sense

Congratulations to the Arlington park board and Dist. 214 school board for their stifling of the November moratorium.

Arlington's school board voted against most moratorium activities, denying rights to the individual schools which have been taken for granted in the past. The school boards decision certainly seems to represent a lack of trust in the high school principals. This decision also represents a lack of confidence in the right of free speech and the intelligence of high school students.

The limiting of moratorium activities to after school doesn't make sense as there is no issue more important in today's education of American ideals. The school board went one step further and stated that no outside speakers could come in, even after the school day had finished.

Two reasons were given for this. First, subversive ideas would be brought in by outside speakers (even if it was John Wayne) and second, that no recognition whatsoever should be given to the moratorium.

THE FIRST REASON GOES against all concepts of the right of free speech and well as it admits that these "subversive ideas" are so persuasive as to have students believe them. If they are so persuasive, maybe we all should listen. That second reason is not even carried out fully by the decision.

No recognition of the moratorium in our schools, when taken literally, means we cannot talk about it after school or maybe even during the school day. Since the board allowed in-school discussion, why prohibit outside speakers?

The decision by the park board managed to block the right of students to have a meeting place for a moratorium rally away from the school. I can't understand Mr. Bressler's statement, "It is not in the national interest."

Perhaps a new set of priorities for the national interest should be set up, or what I believed to be old ones, applied.

High Cost of Suburban Life

by JAMES VESELY

If you live on Patton, Princeton, Harvard, Fernandez and Salem streets in Arlington Heights, you have a gripe.

Residents of those streets have been notified that the village is coming in to repave those streets. The cost of the project will be passed to the homeowners directly affected, in some cases leaving individual residents with bills in excess of $1,000.

This is an old story in Arlington Heights and other suburban communities. A village board or commission decides to implement a policy of improvement to a street and the homeowners pick up the bill.

Usually, the residents are perfectly content with their present street and would rather live with gravel shoulders than shell out $1,000 for shiny new curbs.

IT IS AN OLD story to members of the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements, too. The board members have been trying to make street improvements and add sidewalks to the village for each year of the board's existence. And each year, groups of homeowners complain that the improvements should not come to their street.

You've got to sympathize with the homeowners. They get smacked with a bill out of the blue for an improvement not one of them asked for. They see $1,000 added to their bills, plus interest, and they cringe.

In some cases, the street improvement means the loss of some shrubbery or an increase in traffic.

Jim Vesely

And yet, the streets crumble a little with each winter. The gravel and dirt caused by the lack of curbing is difficult to maintain, does not provide adequate drainage, and impedes snow removal.

THE STREETS WHICH now are scheduled for repaving should have been paved four years ago. Residents' complaints then dissuaded BOLI from going ahead with the project. The final bill will reflect increased construction costs of the past four years just as any further delay will mean more money from each resident of the affected streets.

The same story is told all over town. On the south side of the village, residents of Airy Trace are fighting sidewalks along Arlington Heights Road.

People who live on corner lots will get assessed for street improvements on one street one year, and the other street the next year.

There doesn't seem to be any escape. Homeowners of a residential community are being assessed for improvements normally paid for with taxes in cities.

The price of living in the suburbs can come terribly swift and in unexpected ways. The residents of Patton, Princeton, Harvard, Fernandez and Salem will say that their streets do not need repair. They said the same thing four years ago and they will say the same four years from now. A street never needs repair when you have to pay for it. It only needs repair when it is on the other side of town and you have to drive on it.

Prospectus

Bury, or Solve, Issues?

by BRAD BREKKE

Whatever happened to the Mount Prospect handbill ordinance?

Almost a year ago its legality was questioned by a local youth who charged it was "unconstitutional" for citizens to be required to be licensed to distribute handbills.

At that time it was referred to the fire and police committee for further study.

That was Dec. 3, 1968.

Then six months later, on May 13, 1969, the handbill ordinance bubbled to the surface again in committee, but was quickly submerged for further study. Committee members told the youth they would have to check with the village attorney as to the legality of the ordinance.

SINCE THEN, the youth's question and the fate of the handbill ordinance have not been mentioned.

How efficient can a village government be that buries pertinent issues in committee "for further study" for almost a year?

What purpose is being served? How long does it take to get action?

The youth, Tony Hinrichs, told the village board last year that three of his friends were arrested in Mount Prospect for distributing anti-Vietnam war leaflets without a license.

Under the current ordinance, applications for such licenses must first be made with the village clerk and if the handbill is approved, a license is issued.

But a license to distribute handbills costs $10 a day.

Political leaflets, however, can be distributed in the village free of charge and this might indicate an inconsistency in the ordinance itself.

WHY SHOULD politics be different than any other handbill with a non-commercial nature?

Hinrichs has said that a day after his friends were arrested, he was handed a leaflet asking him to vote for Gov. Sam Shapiro, who was campaigning at that time.

Also, the penalty for distributing handbills without a license under the present ordinance is a fine of not less than $2 nor more than $100 for each offense.

In May, Trustee Dan Ahern told Hinrichs, "We have good reason to believe you're right." He was referring to the possibility that the ordinance was unconstitutional.

Hinrichs said he represents no political group, but is interested in distributing some of his own political beliefs. "But it's a financial burden for citizens to have to pay for a license to disseminate news," he said.

SINCE MAY, nothing has been done. Village Atty. John Zimmerman is supposed to have checked the legality of the ordinance, but so far no opinion has been officially made.

I think it's time Hinrichs gets an answer to his question, one way or the other. A year is a long time.

And perhaps it's time the village looked at its policy regarding what should go into committee "for further study."

In a case such as this, it's not an issue which needs a great deal of study, especially not by a committee. It's either legal or not. And if the village deems it legal and a citizen wants to contest it, then it should go to court, not be conveniently buried so it never pops to the surface again.

Referring itmes to committee has merit, but too often the temptation is to refer it for the wrong reasons.

PERHAPS SOME of these items could faster and better be handled administratively, rather than legislatively.

Anyway, let's clear the board. Let's bring this up again and get it off the fire and police committee's charge sheet.

C'mon fellas, we've been waiting for your answer now for almost a year.

Harper Opens Cage Schedule Tonight

Scrimmage Lines

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

THE MEETING IN WHICH the 16 Mid-Suburban League head football coaches selected their All-Conference team took hours.

After a long night of debate and evaluation, the coaches came up with 45 All-Conference football players. And 22 honorable mentions. A total of 67 players given some sort of All-Conference recognition.

A total of 67 players on an All-Conference team means that there were nearly seven players from each team given honors. The coaches reported that there were so many ties in voting that they could not possibly cut that number down.

Think about it a little bit . . . nearly seven All-Conference players on every team. The Mid-Suburban League must be a powerhouse!

Unfortunately, it is not. Against non-conference foes, MSL teams won two, lost seven and tied one. That does not spell "powerhouse." Not this year.

There are, without doubt, a number of top notch football players in the MSL who deserve All-Conference recognition. But 67?

I am not saying that many of the 67 players are not good football players. All of them are. Good, that is. But All-Conference is supposed to mean "great" and there are not 67 "great" football players in the MSL. There are not 45 "great" players either.

The Mid-Suburban League is not the only conference which came up with so many All-Conference football players. The Suburban League (Oak Park, Evanston, Waukegan, etc.) had 57 All-Conference football players.

What each conference should do is limit itself to 22 All-Conference players. Eleven for offense, 11 on defense. And there is a way to set the best 22.

The Saginaw Valley Conference in Michigan has come up with a means to pick All-Conference teams and many other leagues in Michigan have followed suit.

Before each game, the opposing coaches exchange depth charts. Thus, each team knows who is playing, who is hurt, the jersey numbers of the opponents and the starters.

After the game, the players look over the depth charts and make notes about their individual opponents. The PLAYERS make notes.

When the season is completed, the players, with the help of their own notes, make an All-Opponent team. The coach then makes a list of his own All-Conference team.

On the day of the meeting, each coach has two ballots in his hands. One made up by his players and one by himself. At the All-Conference selection meeting, the coaches' ballots and the players' ballots are tabulated. The football players who receive the most votes are named All-Conference. The coaches debate and vote to break all ties in the voting.

"We used this system in the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference," Fremd coach Al Ratcliff said. "And it was the best system for picking an All-Conference team that I have ever seen."

"I think that the boys should have a say in picking the All-Conference team. They are the ones who are on the field. It is the boys who know who covers whom on pass defense. They know who the good blockers and tacklers are."

"It is the boys who know who is putting them on their backsides. They know more than anybody else."

Ratcliff revealed that it took 20 minutes for an All-Conference team to be selected. The Mid-Suburban League coaches took hours.

The players themselves should have as much say as their coaches when picking the Mid-Suburban League All-Conference team. It would make the MSL All-Conference team more prestigious.

And it would give the "great" players in the league their due.

Fremd Site of Hawk Contest With Elgin

by PAUL LOGAN

If John Gelch had just one extra finger on one of his hands, he could single-handedly indicate the number of victories his Harper College basketball team totaled last season — six!

This year, however, the Hawks head coach is hoping to see so many wins that both of his hands won't be able to register the 1969-70 victory total.

"I'm very optimistic on having a good season," says Gelch. "Certainly we're stronger this year than last and, unless some of the opposing teams come up with real fine ball clubs, we should improve our record greatly."

The Harper mentor was referring to the 6-21 mark which was recorded last season, the Hawks' first year in organized play.

Tonight the Hawks will begin their 24-game regular season schedule by entertaining Elgin College at 8:15 on the Fremd High School court.

Presently, of the 17-man squad, Gelch has narrowed the starting role down to six men. Three of these were regulars last year — guard Jim Mellen (5-9) from Libertyville, forward Don Duffy (6-3) from St. Viator, and center Bob Spore (6-4) from Prospect. Spore is presently battling it out for the pivot spot with Eric Schuster, a 6-4 transfer from Northern Illinois University who played at Conant.

Filling the other two positions will be guard John Knopf (6-1), a transfer from the University of Dubuque who peeped at Elk Grove, and forward Scott Sibberson who played at Conant.

(6-7), a freshman who played at Creighton Prep School in Omaha.

Sibberson paced the scoring in last Tuesday's scrimmage game with 26 as the first team won, 100-69. The rest of the starters showed plenty of scoring punch, also — Knopf (22), Schuster (21), Duffy (20), Mellen (18) and Spore (14).

"We had a real fine scrimmage," Gelch said. "We did a lot of things right in that scrimmage and what we need now is a ballgame. I would say that at this point there's not much more we can do — not until we play a ballgame and then come back and work on our mistakes."

Macnider 21st in Nationals

Jim Macnider, Harper Community College's fine cross country man, flew down the chute with 21st place in the National Junior College Finals held last Saturday in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Macnider, who is only a freshman, ran the 4.175 miles at the Butler Community College course against 200 harriers. He just missed winning a medal for the cutoff was 20th place. His time was 25:43.

Macnider flew out to the meet with his coach, Bob Nolan. His fine finish capped an exceptional season for himself and the whole Harper team. During the 1968 season, which was the first time the Hawks had competed wearing the gold and maroon, they only won four while dropping six.

This past campaign the Hawks flew home victorious 11 times in dual competition while losing just twice. They also finished second in both the Northern Illinois Junior College League and the Region IV championships. It was in this latter competition that Macnider finished in the top (sixth) to qualify for the trip east.

Jaycees Announce Turkey Trot Plans

Plans for this year's Thanksgiving Day Turkey Trot are nearing completion with the mailing of over 6000 entry blanks to possible participants. The event has grown since 1962 to one of the largest of its type in the Midwest.

Cross country footraces in seven categories are the fare for the day. Leading off at 9:30 a.m. will be the girls ages 12-14 running a half mile over the course laid out at Mount Prospect Country Club. They will be followed by Junior High Boys on the same course. High School Boys will race in two classifications over a course reported to be two miles in length. College men will compete in a four mile cross country event.

The day will wind up with a 2 mile race for men over twenty-eight and a 2 mile run for men over 40. Trophies or ribbons will be presented to those who place — a total of 90 awards.

Special Rate For Beginners

When the skiing season officially opens at Four Lakes Village, in Lisle, on Dec. 1, beginning skiers in groups of ten or more will be offered a special rate for an hour's instruction, according to John Verrey, ski school director.

In addition to the hour's instruction, participants will be provided with full ski equipment including skis, boots, and poles. The package also includes slope fee, according to Verrey.

The special group rate of $6 per person in groups of ten or more applies throughout the skiing season with one or two exceptions.

Group instruction is available on Mondays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. On weekends, Verrey noted, groups can only be accommodated after five in the evenings.

Group classes are not held during the Christmas school vacation period, Dec. 22 to Jan. 2, and on both Lincoln and Washington's birthday, because of the crowded slope conditions that always prevail during that time.

Further information may be obtained by calling Verrey at 944-2550 or by writing: Four Lakes Village Ski School, P. O. Box 430, Lisle, Ill. 60532.

Harper both in the opener and later in the season.

As to the Hawks' play so far, Gelch had this to say:

"Hustle is possibly our strongest point, but, of course, we must give due credit to each of these boys and the talent they possess."

"I think we can do more this year. We have more depth and we're ready to play basketball. We've been putting the fast break together with the pattern offense and the rebounding is coming along as is the defense. And what really pleases me is that no one part of our game overshadows the other."

Some of the Hawks who might be seeing action in the non-league opener are:

Sophomores—Angelo Coduto (5-8) from Palatine, Bill McAndrews (6-1) from St. Viator, and Mike Elwart (6-0) from St. Viator.

Freshmen—Bob Bachus (6-4) from Elk Grove, Jim Hynes (5-9) from St. Viator, Chris Rames (6-1) from Adlai Stevenson, Tom McNulty (5-10) from St. Viator, Chue Moran (6-4) from Conant, Dan Willis (6-2) from Wheeling, Larry Wadzita (5-11) from Arlington, and Don Schroeder (6-6) from Maine West.

"I would say that we'll have a winning season," Gelch said and added, "I'd say that I would be disappointed and so would my boys if we didn't."

CLIMB INTO THE DRIVER'S SEAT...

TELEPHONE CRAFTSMEN

and get on the road to a career as a top-notch craftsman with Illinois Bell. You'll be trained by some of the best craftsmen around to install and repair telephones in homes or businesses.

Starting salary is good and we'll add to it every six months until you reach the top basic rate, which right now is $176 a week. And with us, you know you can earn it every week of the year — good weather or bad.

In addition, you can take advantage of some great benefits, like insurance plans and college level tuition aid. And there are plenty of after-hours activities to suit your interest, too.

Take the first step toward getting into the driver's seat. Come see us now.

HANOVER TOWNSHIP

Quandrenial Assessment List

Published Tuesday, November 13, 1969 in The Herald of Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg-Hanover Park

OFFICIAL ASSESSMENT LIST

This publication list is the official notice to property owners of the 1969 quadrennial assessments of land and improvements in the township of Hanover. The 1969 assessments as published herein are those determined by the Assessor of Cook County.

LAND VALUATIONS

The land valuations set forth are the 1969 appraised full values of land per front foot for all city and suburban lots or per square foot or per acre for industrial and farm lands, the determination of full value of a rectangular lot is obtained by multiplying the unit front foot value of the lot by the number of feet frontage, modified by the shape, depth, corner or other influences which affect any individual lot or tract of land.

BUILDING VALUATIONS

Similar development of sound data and procedures were used in valuing buildings under the conditions as of January 1, 1969. Simplification of the rules and careful revision and application of unit building costs based on sound data, which included determination of reproduction cost (new) of different types of buildings with allowances for age, condition and obsolescence produced equitable and uniform assessment of buildings of all classes. Some building values are partial assessments based on occupancy for a fraction of the year. They will be fully assessed for following years.

PROPERTY VALUES

The figures listed herein for the lands and improvements are the assessed full values of such property as of January 1, 1969, as determined by the Assessor of Cook County.

It is the duty of the Assessor to assess all taxable property on a uniform basis of valuation so that the assessed full values of the various properties are a just and equal assessment of such properties according to law. The assessment roll recording the values of property determines only the distribution of the total tax load among the individual property owners. The Assessor of Cook County has no control over the amount of taxes levied, nor the public expenditures. The amount of these assessed values does not determine the amount of your tax bill. The established tax rate does that. The Assessor does not make the rate, he merely finds the value of your property.

PERMANENT REAL ESTATE INDEX NUMBER

The permanent real estate index number system was designed for the purpose of simplifying the very complex assessing, tax collecting and tax distribution problems in Cook County, Illinois. In this system areas and sub-areas are established. Generally, areas substitute for townships and sub-areas represent sections. These sub-areas are divided into blocks, as follows:

Blocks 100 to 199 are located in N. W. Quarter
Blocks 200 to 299 are located in N. E. Quarter
Blocks 300 to 399 are located in S. W. Quarter
Blocks 400 to 499 are located in S. E. Quarter

INFORMATION ON ASSESSMENTS

Any property owner who has any question in regard to the assessment of his property should inquire at the office of the Assessor of Cook County, Room 112, in the County Building, Clark, Washington and Randolph streets, Chicago. Information on the above, as well as the general basis and methods of determining the assessment of the land and improvements thereon will be furnished without cost.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

The FBI has launched an investigation into the cause of Sunday's train wreck near Foundry and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights involving a Soo Line freight train and several Soo Line maintenance crew quarters cars.

Two railroad employees were injured in the mishap. Both remained in fair condition yesterday at Holy Family Hospital. Gilardo Cervantes, 23, of Schiller Park, was burned in the accident. James Miller, 53 of Minneapolis, suffered a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred about 8:10 p.m. when the northbound 63-car freight train, veered onto a spur on which several cars from a maintenance crew work train were being stored. Men living in the quarters cars have been working on railroad crossings in the Wheeling area.

THE FREIGHT TRAIN slammed into the quarters cars knocking several of them off the track and starting a fire in one of them. A track maintenance machine, also stored on the spur, was destroyed in the accident.

A spokesman for the railroad said yesterday that vandals apparently tampered with the switch that sent the freight train onto the siding.

Both the FBI and members of the Cook County Sheriff's Police are investigating the accident. An FBI official told the Herald yesterday that the agency was investigating the mishap for "a possible violation of the federal train wreck statute."

Among the quarters cars destroyed in the collision was one the maintenance crews used as a shower car. Railroad officials theorized that it was a propane gas water heater in the cars used for showers that started the fire.

FIREMEN FROM five area fire departments fought the blaze. Men from the Prospect Heights Fire Department sent three trucks to the fire.

A spokesman for the Forest River Fire Protection District said 20 men from his department fought the fire. Firemen brought the fire under control about an hour after they arrived, the spokesman said.

Vehicles from the Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Wheeling fire departments also answered the alarm.

One of the quarters cars knocked from the tracks overturned and came to rest against a Commonwealth Edison utility line tower. The tower, though damaged, did not fall.

Only one of the three engines pulling the freight train and several of the quarters cars were derailed in the accident.

Workmen began removing wreckage from the area yesterday.

Mission Continues

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

For Charles H. "Pete" Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon the moment of truth came on the back side of the moon at 9:47 p.m. Chicago time.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Pring Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Several of the quarters cars, standing on a spur track near Foundry and bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

Wolf roads in Prospect Heights, were rammed Sunday night by a Soo Line freight train. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour

Voting for Con-Con Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimagined by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics.

Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

New Programs Set

New and improved counseling programs are being planned by Elk Grove Community Services, according to a report released recently.

A counselor's training program for community leaders and laymen, a 24-hour helping telephone service, extended family counseling services and an Adult "Outreach" program are in the process of discussion or establishment, according to Thomas Smith, director.

The training session, to improve counseling skills, was suggested by the Ministerial Association. Proposed for ministers, policemen, counselors, personnel managers, financial advisors and teachers, it would help them to be better able to offer counseling support and to recognize when a problem warrants referral to professional levels.

A POSSIBLE discussion series on psychodynamics and psychopathology, to discuss the variety of human problems that are encountered, may be offered in January by Smith. "The second phase of any such training program would be to help those concerned improve their own supportive counseling skills," Smith said.

"We have also found increased concern over the possibility of some sort of 24-hour helping telephone service," he said.

"We now have an answering service, and it might be that it can be transposed into a real referral and information-giving service, so that citizens can obtain direction as to where to go for any problem at any time. To get such a program going, we'd need a group of volunteers, and then careful schooling for them to familiarize them with resources for human problems," he added.

Family Counseling Services provided by the Lutheran Welfare Services of Illinois will be extended from one family worker to two beginning Thursday.

SMITH ALSO reported that an Adult Outreach program "to educate the community about our concerns and tap their resources to help us" is being developed.

These programs are in conjunction with community service goals as outlined by Smith in September. Three basic steps in the organization's operational procedure were formulated as: "Find a problem, find a resource or program, and then put the problem into contact with the resource."

Viet Vet Hits Withdrawal

by TOM JACHIMIEC

An Army infantryman who was wounded in Vietnam last August said recently that he feels the United States could do a better job of fighting the war if there was not so much pressure to withdraw.

Spec. 4 Raymond Behm, 20, of 563 Laurel St., Elk Grove Village was asked to give his views on the war and the Moratorium demonstrations.

"The military is being forced to make moves to keep people back home happy, at least that's my personal opinion," he said.

Behm said the moratorium did not prove anything and that he was against it.

He said if the people participating in the moratorium could see what it is like in Vietnam, they would not be marching so much.

ON THE SOUTH Vietnamese Army, Behm said he thought the United States was spoiling the people by doing most of their fighting for them.

He said he would like to have seen more fighting by them, side-by-side, with the Americans. He added that if the United States pulled out altogether, the Viet Cong would "run all over" the South Vietnamese army.

Turning to his reasons for joining the service almost two years ago, Behm said he felt he had an obligation, so he enlisted for three years.

"It was a job to be done," he said. "I don't think anybody likes the war, but if you want some benefits you have to make some sacrifices."

Behm was in My Kuhn near Bong Son on an ambush mission with the 173rd Airborne Brigade when he was seriously wounded while coming to the aid of some troops.

Ten minutes later he was in a helicopter on his way to a hospital. Within the hour he was on the operating table receiving medical attention that saved his life.

He credited a cigarette lighter and a brave helicopter pilot with saving his life.

Behm explained that when he was hit, it was at night and his unit did not have any flashlights to signal the helicopter pilot to land.

A CIGARETTE LIGHTER was used to signal the pilot, said Behm.

"I don't know how he saw it," he said. "I think it was just a freak of nature that everything worked out."

On Sept. 12 Behm arrived at Great Lakes Naval Hospital near Waukegan where he was being treated for his wounds.

For the most part, he has recovered, but he must still undergo an operation to insert a small plastic plate in the side of his head.

"The doctors told me I was lucky the injury didn't affect my brain," said Behm, a graduate of Forest View High School in Arlington Heights. "It could have been a lot worse."

Behm is still in the hospital, but works there now as a runner in a ward while awaiting discharge because of his disability. He is allowed to come home on weekends.

Behm is the second member of his family to receive a Purple Heart. His father received one in World War II when he was also wounded in the head.

Behm said he plans on taking it easy when he gets out, eventually taking on a tool and die apprenticeship.

Mayor Sabonjian To Talk Tomorrow

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian will address the Northwest Suburban Shrine Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Maitre d' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village.

Sabonjian has been an outspoken critic of rioters, saying they should either love America or leave it and go to Russia.

SABONJIAN WILL SPEAK on current problems of the cities.

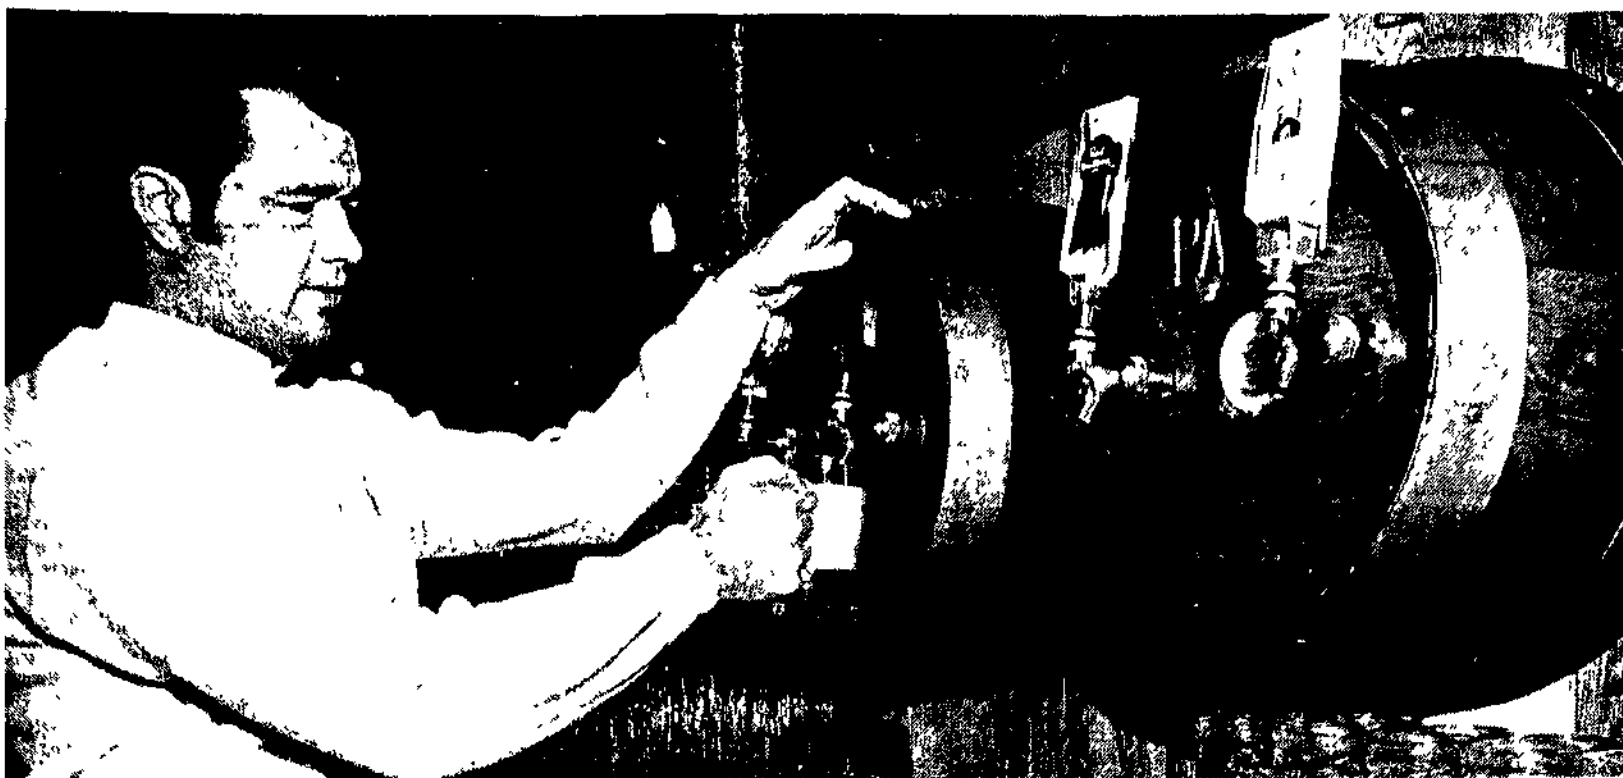

Interested men are invited to attend.

'Peanut Pubs,' Old Town-Style, Hit Suburbs

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

by DAVE PALERMO

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1936 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather a mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Schager. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers. "Now they're experimenting and taking the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menused restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazz car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good. . . . A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager. Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.

Molds, Glazes, Kiln Make Hobby

by SUE CARSON

Three thousand plaster molds, a couple hundred jars of paint and glaze, a vat of clay, a firing kiln.

They all crowd the ceramic studio operated by "Chuck" and Chuck Hinze, who live on Jackson Drive near Wheeling.

An occupation that began as a hobby several years ago has burgeoned into a full-time business for the Hinzes.

They not only make and sell many ceramic pieces in the shop adjacent to their home, but also teach ceramic classes, sell supplies and fire ceramic items.

"IT'S GIVEN US hours of enjoyment," said Hinze, a retired government civil service employee.

"Sometimes we seem to lose track of the time while we're working."

Hinze said "usable" items, such as ashtrays, canister sets, beer steins and coin banks are most popular with his customers.

The process of making a ceramic item is a painstaking one, requiring patience, Hinze explained. First the object is fashioned from clay by pouring liquid clay into a commercial plastic mold.

Then the object is painted with special water-soluble paint. The item is fired in a kiln which reaches a temperature of 2,300 degrees. This step of the process takes from six to nine hours.

AFTER A 24-HOUR cooling period, the item is glazed and fired again.

Firing a piece can be tricky. The Hinzes said the number of hours required to complete the firing process depends on the humidity, the number of items in the kiln, the time of day and even the color of the item.

"It takes less time to fire at night because people are using less electrical equipment and the voltage output is higher," Mrs. Hinze said.

The Hinzes have taken several additional courses in ceramic-making, since they first learned the process. According to Mrs. Hinze, it helps them to "keep up with the times."

"WE DON'T KNOW all there is to know about making ceramics," she stated. "We may have mastered some techniques, but there are always others to learn about."

When it comes to creating a ceramic item, the individual can let his imagination run wild. Many techniques can be developed to create a variety of effects.

For example, some types of paints contain lead crystals of two or three different colors which burst upon firing. Those handy with a chisel can try etching their own designs on the items and then painting and firing them.

The Hinzes began teaching ceramics in their shop two years ago. The first class of six students met one night a week.

NOW CLASSES are offered four nights and one afternoon a week. Approximately 70 students, some from as far away as Carpentersville and Riverside, come to the Hinzes' shop each week for the lessons.

"All it takes is patience and interest to pursue ceramics. Naturally, you won't turn out 'Rembrandts' the first time, but you can do some pretty good work," said

Mrs. Hinze.

"Chuck" and Chuck belong to the Lake County Region Ceramic Association. They have frequently exhibited with that group and have won several awards as well.

The Hinzes' son and two daughters have developed an interest in the business too. Their 7-year-old son recently won a prize from the Great Central Ceramic League, in which he competed with other children.

As far as plans for the future are concerned, the Hinzes' hope to expand their business in the near future. A large commercial ceramics concern holds little appeal for them, however.

"We like to pay attention to each individual piece of work," Hinze said. "We don't want to grow so big that we can't be fussy about each item we turn out."

OK Restaurant Zoning

The Cook County Board recently approved the rezoning of 1½ acres for construction of a restaurant near Busse Road and Imperial Court, Elk Grove Township.

The tract was rezoned from M-1 (restricted manufacturing) to B-4 (general service).

PTO at Admiral Byrd To Hear DePaul Coach

Ray Meyer, athletic director and basketball coach at DePaul University, will speak at today's meeting of the Admiral Byrd Parent-Teacher Organization beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym.

Also scheduled to speak are representatives of School Dist. 59. They will talk on Saturday's referendum.

Tomorrow and Thursday, the PTO will sponsor a book fair. Persons interested in helping may contact Beverly Johnson, 439-7198, or Jennie Stompenato, 439-2569.

At an open house last month, the PTO gave the school a camera, a check for $350 for musical instruments and a painting.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 18, the 322nd day of 1969 with 43 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1883, the United States adopted standard time and set up the four time zones: Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific.

In 1903, Panama and the United States signed a treaty reaching agreement on the proposed Panama Canal.

In 1967, Britain devalued the pound 14.3 per cent, to $2.40.

In 1968, New York City school teachers agreed to end their third strike of the term.

A thought for the day: George Bernard Shaw said, "My method is to take the utmost trouble to find the right thing to say, and then to say it with the utmost levity."

Piano Recital Held

Mrs. James B. Roberts, Elk Grove teacher of piano and voice, held an informal recital for a group of her older students recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Benson, 71 Eden Road, Elk Grove Village.

Students appearing on the program were Cheryl Esche, Rita Pritchard, Glee Hansen, Riley O'Dea, Alan Esche, Greg Hansen, Todd Benson, Lisa Maynard, Sheryl Krasnow, Lori Maynard and Amy Benson. Prizes were awarded to Glee Hansen, Greg Hansen, Cheryl Esche and Sheryl Krasnow.

Catch Hand in Press

An Elk Grove Village man was in satisfactory condition in St. Alexius Hospital yesterday following an accident Saturday in which his right hand was caught in a printing press.

Don Mueller, 37, of 189 Basswood, was at work at Inland Lithograph Co., 1201 Pratt Blvd., in the village when the accident occurred.

The fire department reported that Mueller's hand was badly damaged.

Clearbrook Group Dance Set Dec. 6

The Clearbrook Community Association for the Retarded will sponsor a benefit dinner dance to raise money for the building program of the Clearbrook Center for the Retarded Dec. 6 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Algaue's Restaurant, Concord Motor Inn, Mannheim and Higgins roads.

The association, which includes members from Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Wheeling, Schaumburg, Elk Grove, and Rolling Meadows, is organized to promote the welfare of all mentally retarded and is open to the public.

PRIMARY responsibility of the group is to support the activities of the Clearbrook Center in Rolling Meadows. The center is a private agency operated with community support which provides services for children and adults who cannot be served in public programs.

Tickets for the benefit dance are available from Mrs. Dorothy Schaffer, 717 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, phone 259-459.

Trailer Is Recovered

A trailer reported stolen from the Penn Central RR. in Chicago Sept. 9 was found empty near Lively Boulevard and Oakton Street in Elk Grove Village Sunday.

A van-type trailer, it contained a shipment of television sets when stolen, police reported.

Reports Hubcap Theft Parents Sponsor Film

Four hubcaps valued at $120 were taken last weekend from a 1968 model car belonging to Alfred Rader, 359 Laurel St., Elk Grove Village.

Rader told police it was the second such occurrence within the last six months.

Bow Hunter Bags 200 Pound Buck

An Elk Grove Village man hit the jackpot recently on a hunting trip to Michigan. Using a bow and arrow, Cliff Kroenning, 29, of 571 Sycamore Drive, bagged an eight-point buck weighing 200 pounds, dressed.

Kroenning, who has been hunting with a bow and arrow for two years, said this was the first deer he'd gotten.

He killed the deer while hunting near Cadillac, Mich., with his brother-in-law, Joe Calcagno of Des Plaines.

PAUL ONDRACEK toots out a tune on his French horn as a part of The Chicago Brass Ensemble's presentation for Mark Hopkins School in Elk Grove Village. The ensemble performed a second concert Friday in Ridge School, Elk Grove.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Several of the quarters cars, standing on a spur track near Foundry and Wolf roads in Prospect Heights, were rammed Sunday night by a Soo Line freight train. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

The FBI has launched an investigation into the cause of Sunday's train wreck near Foundry and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights involving a Soo Line freight train and several Soo Line maintenance crew quarters cars.

Two railroad employees were injured in the mishap. Both remained in fair condition yesterday at Holy Family Hospital. Gildardo Cervantes, 23, of Schiller Park, was burned in the accident, James Miller, 53 of Minneapolis, suffered a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred about 8:10 p.m. when the northbound 63-car freight train, veered onto a spur on which several cars from a maintenance crew work train were being stored. Men living in the quarters cars have been working on railroad crossings in the Wheeling area.

THE FREIGHT TRAIN slammed into the quarters cars knocking several of them off the track and starting a fire in one of them. A track maintenance machine, also stored on the spur, was destroyed in the accident.

A spokesman for the railroad said yesterday that vandals apparently tampered with the switch that sent the freight train onto the siding.

Both the FBI and members of the Cook County Sheriff's Police are investigating the accident. An FBI official told the Herald yesterday that the agency was investigating the mishap for "a possible violation of the federal train wreck statute."

Among the quarters cars destroyed in the collision was one the maintenance crews used as a shower car. Railroad officials theorized that it was a propane gas water heater in the cars used for showers that started the fire.

FIREMEN FROM five area fire departments fought the blaze. Men from the Prospect Heights Fire Department sent three trucks to the fire.

A spokesman for the Forest River Fire Protection District said 20 men from his department fought the fire. Firemen brought the fire under control about an hour after they arrived, the spokesman said.

Vehicles from the Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Wheeling fire departments also answered the alarm.

One of the quarters cars knocked from the tracks overturned and came to rest against a Commonwealth Edison utility line tower. The tower, though damaged, did not fall.

Dist 59 Referendum Meetings Are Planned

School Dist. 59 administrators and board of education members will answer questions on Saturday's referendum in meetings with the public this week.

Meetings are scheduled as follows:
Tuesday — Brentwood School, PTA board meeting, 8 p.m.; Byrd School, PTO meeting, 7:30 p.m.; Rupley School, PTO board meeting, 8 p.m.; Salt Creek School, Parents' Organization, 8 p.m.; Ridge School, PTA meeting, 8 p.m.; and Clearmont School, "YES" voters, 8 p.m.

Wednesday — Grant Wood School, Second Cup of Coffee, 9:45 a.m.; Grant Wood School, PTA board meeting, 8 p.m.; Einstein School, PTA meeting, 8 p.m.; and Mrs. Hugh Harbin, 32 Lancaster, Elk Grove Village, coffee in her home, 8 p.m.

Wednesday — Cook School, Second Cup of Coffee, 10 a.m.; Homes Junior High School, PTO meeting, 8 p.m.; and Einstein School, Referendum Coffee in Learning Center, 3:30 p.m.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

Mission Continues

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

For Charles H. "Pete" Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon the moment of truth came on the back side of the moon at 9:47 p.m. Chicago time.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

Police Vote Set

The addition of two new officers to the Mount Prospect police department will be voted on by the village board tonight.

If approved, the two new men will bring the total number of officers to 31.

Although both Police Chief Newell Esmond and Village Mgr. Virgil Barnett endorse the addition of the two men, they feel more policemen are needed to meet the needs of the community on a permanent basis.

In other business, the board will consider hiring an administrative assistant to the village manager.

Barnett recommended the idea of an assistant.

If approved by the board, Barnett said the new assistant would provide a direct line of communication between all village departments, boards and commissions of the local government.

Barnett said earlier that the assistant would receive a comparably low salary of approximately $8,500 a year.

Other action to be put before the board include provisions for a preannuation agreement between the Northern Illinois Gas Co. and the village and authorization for the purchase of 11 new fire hydrants.

Speeders Beware

If you drive with a heavy foot on the accelerator, you better watch out.

The chances are better today you'll be caught, if you're speeding.

Mount Prospect has purchased another radar unit to combat an upsurge of traffic violations which have been reported to police in recent months by citizens.

"The purpose of the new radar unit is not just to set up a speed trap," said Village Mgr. Virgil Barnett, "but to serve as a device to educate the public."

Barnett and Police Chief Newell Esmond said a large number of complaints have been directed to the police department by residents who claim there's been a lot of speeding going on in their neighborhoods.

"We thought the majority of the violators were from outside Mount Prospect, but actually they're our own people," said Esmond.

"North side residents complained some time ago about speeders, so we set up a trap and found that two-thirds of the violators lived in Mount Prospect," he said.

Esmond said the new radar unit will be used on side streets in the village as well as main thoroughfares.

"This is the only way police can cope with traffic problems. The purpose is primarily to educate the public, but you can bet your life we'll be giving more tickets now," said Esmond.

COULD Will Give Program

The Northwest Suburban Council on Understanding Learning Disabilities (COULD) will present a program on the child with behavior and learning problems at 8 p.m. Thursday at Prospect High School, 801 Kensington, Mount Prospect.

Guest speakers will be Dennis Sullivan and Carl Stemler of the CIBA Pharmaceutical Co. They will discuss identification and treatment of children with learning disabilities.

A film, "Cerebral Dysfunction in Children," will be shown. It illustrates the behavior patterns and problems of the child suffering from this problem.

Although cerebral dysfunction is common, many family physicians are not aware of it and many parents and children suffer because of it. The dysfunction can be dramatically improved by good management, medication and understanding on the part of parents, physicians and teachers.

Mayor Sabonjian To Talk Tomorrow

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian will address the Northwest Suburban Shrine Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Maitre d' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village.

Sabonjian has been an outspoken critic of rioters, saying they should either love America or leave it and go to Russia. SABONJIAN WILL SPEAK on current problems of the cities.

Interested men are invited to attend.

Con-Con Voting Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimagined by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics.

Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

Crew Has Leaf Trouble

November is the month for roasting chestnuts, planning Thanksgiving dinner and Christmas shopping.

But for the Mount Prospect public works department, late autumn is the season for sweeping away last summer's shade.

From early October until December, the crew at the public works department hauls truckloads of leaves, which have been vacuumed off village streets, to dumping grounds in the area. And it's no easy task.

The department's leaf removal program, using machinery to vacuum the leaves off the street rather than sweep them into piles for dump-truck pick-ups, is in its second season.

AND AS WITH ALL new projects, it takes time before the program is operating as smoothly and as efficiently as possible. Especially to satisfy Dave Creamer, director of public works, who is trying his best to provide service to residents.

"I'm not happy with the leaf removal program this year, but I know what improvements need to be made to increase our efficiency next season. We plan to purchase an additional leaf vacuum as well as outfit the older machinery with new equipment."

"Also, we're still ironing out the flaws in our new vacuum equipment plus getting acquainted with this type of pick-up. We're trying as best we can with our equipment to provide the best possible service for residents, but it takes time and we hope residents will be patient with us," Creamer said.

Creamer's crews have been working every day including weekends to get the leaves off the ground before Dec. 1 when the equipment will be converted for snow removal. But the efficiency of the machinery has been hampered by the rainy weather.

"WE'VE BEEN HAVING problems with wet leaves clogging the equipment, and this is one reason why we recommend that residents do not water down leaf piles. Under the new program, all residents have to do is rake their leaves into the street and we pick them up."

"But some residents, who don't want the leaves blowing back into their yards, water down the piles which makes our job a lot tougher and harder. So I recommend if residents are worried about blowing leaves, they should put them in plastic garbage bags and the garbage disposals will collect them," Creamer explained.

He also attributed leaf removal problems to cars parked along the streets. "Residents should avoid parking their cars on the streets in front of their homes during leaf pick-ups. We'd like them to give us the same consideration during the fall as they do during the winter months for snow removal," he said.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS in the community also slow down the crews from removing the leaves as quickly as possible. "We're slowed down by the same traffic problems as residents are. Getting from one point in the village to another takes a lot more time these days than it once did. Plus the village is expanding and we have more areas to canvass and more leaves to pick up," he said.

This year Creamer is hauling loads of leaves to Meadows Park where they're being used as land fill for low areas in the park. "We got a full about five-feet deep for better than half an acre. That's a lot of leaves," he said.

To assist the department in removing all the leaves before the December deadline, Creamer is asking that all residents rake their leaves into small piles near the curb and to avoid wetting down the leaf piles. "Also we would appreciate it if residents do not rake brush, branches, flower stalks and stones into the leaf piles because these materials just plug up the machinery and it takes longer to get the job done," he explained.

"If residents cooperate with the department, we'll be able to provide equal service to everyone in the community by getting to every area on a weekly basis to pick-up the leaves and eliminate another nuisance for the community," Creamer said.

History Program Set

The Mount Prospect Historical Society will present a program on the history and settlement of Elk Grove and Wheeling Townships at the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce dinner-meeting to be held Nov. 19 at the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand Road at Euclid Avenue.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 p.m. with the general meeting scheduled for 8:15 p.m. For dinner reservations contact Marie Smosna at 259-4000 or Paul Dasso at 259-0500.

GI Hits Pullout

by TOM JACHIMEC

An Army infantryman who was wounded in Vietnam last August said recently that he feels the United States could do a better job of fighting the war if there was not so much pressure to withdraw.

Spec. 4 Raymond Behm, 20, of 563 Laurel St., Elk Grove Village was asked to give his views on the war and the Moratorium demonstrations.

"The military is being forced to make moves to keep people back home happy, at least that's my personal opinion," he said.

Behm said the moratorium did not prove anything and that he was against it.

He said if the people participating in the moratorium could see what it is like in Vietnam, they would not be marching so much.

ON THE SOUTH Vietnamese Army, Behm said he thought the United States was spoiling the people by doing most of their fighting for them.

He said he would like to have seen more fighting by them, side-by-side, with the Americans. He added that if the United States pulled out altogether, the Viet Cong would "run all over" the South Vietnamese army.

Turning to his reasons for joining the service almost two years ago, Behm said he felt he had an obligation, so he enlisted for three years.

"It was a job to be done," he said. "I don't think anybody likes the war, but if you want some benefits you have to make some sacrifices."

Behm was in My Kahn near Bong Son on an ambush mission with the 173rd Airborne Brigade when he was seriously wounded while coming to the aid of some troops.

Ten minutes later he was in a helicopter on his way to a hospital. Within the hour he was on the operating table receiving medical attention that saved his life.

He credited a cigarette lighter and a brave helicopter pilot with saving his life.

Behm explained that when he was hit, it was at night and his unit did not have any flashlights to signal the helicopter pilot to land.

A CIGARETTE LIGHTER was used to signal the pilot, said Behm.

"I don't know how he saw it," he said. "I think it was just a freak of nature that everything worked out."

On Sept. 12 Behm arrived at Great Lakes Naval Hospital near Waukegan where he was being treated for his wounds.

For the most part, he has recovered, but he must still undergo an operation to insert a small plastic plate in the side of his head.

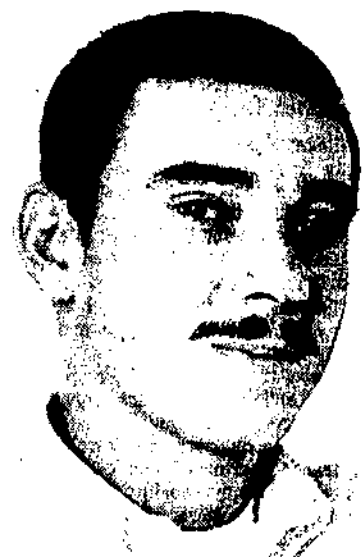

"The doctors told me I was lucky the injury didn't affect my brain," said Behm, a graduate of Forest View High School in Arlington Heights. "It could have been a lot worse."

Behm is still in the hospital, but works there now as a runner in a ward while awaiting discharge because of his disability. He is expected to come home on weekends.

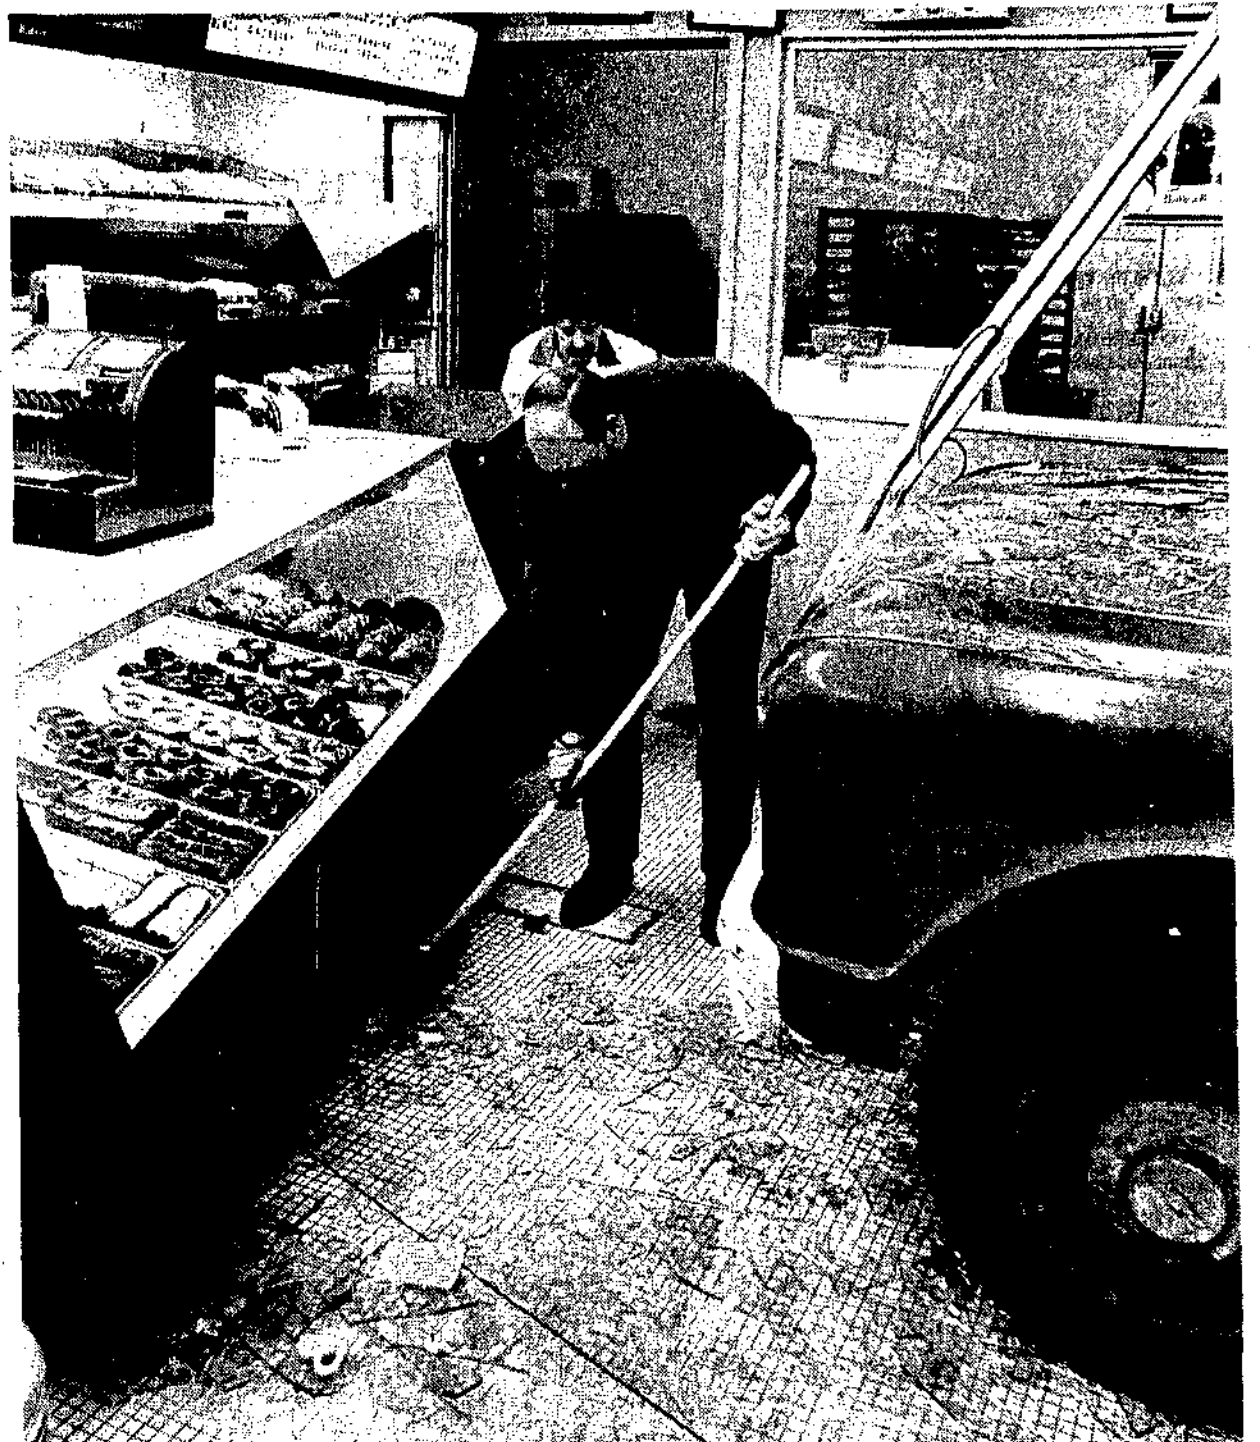

Behm is the second member of his family to receive a Purple Heart. His father received one in World War II when he was also wounded in the head.

Behm said he plans on taking it easy when he gets out, eventually taking on a tool and die apprenticeship.

"I just want to relax and get used to living normal," he said.

RAYMOND BEHM

SELF SERVICE? It happened at Mister Donut's, 700 E. Rand Road, in Mount Prospect yesterday. As the story goes a fellow pulled up to the front of the store in his truck to get a couple of doughnuts and coffee for him and his wife. However, his wife changed her order at the last minute and leaned out the window of the truck to yell at him. But when she did, her foot hit the accelerator and the truck crashed through the front window of the store and came to rest next to the donut counter. No one was injured in the incident. The man, who was not identified, helped sweep up the mess. The accident was later investigated by Illinois State Police.

Plead for 'Special' Help

Mrs. John Spooner presented the case last night for several parents in the Westbrook area who wish special help for their perceptually handicapped children in Dist. 57.

Mrs. Spooner told the Dist. 57 board the students had spent as much as five years "waiting" for testing and additional special teachers.

"The more time that passes, the more help these children need," Mrs. Spooner said.

Superintendent Eric Sahlberg replied that the district now has eight teachers for perceptually handicapped children, twice as many as required by the state.

PARENTS CHALLENGED the minimum figures quoted by Sahlberg and said they felt each child must be helped under the new state legislation. Board member Mrs. Pat Kimball said she recalls administrative requests for additional staff in special education classes. Charles Houchins, board member, asked if the parents were saying the district had not complied with the law. Parents agreed this was the point they were making.

The board heard a report of special education programs offered by the district immediately following the parents' questions. The report had been originally scheduled and was presented by Richard Percy, assistant superintendent; Fred Collett, director of pupil services; and members of the special education staff. Included in the report was a detailed description of the relationship of this district to the Northwest

Suburban Special Education Organization.

In other business the board plans to employ a professional surveyor to determine where the 1.5 mile limits for junior high bus riders will fall on the north side of the district for next year.

SAHLBERG SAID all students who live less than a mile and a half from Lincoln Junior High will be able to ride on a fee plan. He reported the busing will be open to parochial students along the route as well as those in public school.

Trenches have been dug for foundations at Lincoln which is destined to become the sole junior high in the district by the fall of 1970. Sahlberg said the contract for Lee Construction, general contractor, is now in the hands of the builder.

'Peanut Pubs,' Old Town-Style, Hit Suburbs

by DAVE PALERMO

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1936 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a... a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather as mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Scha-

ger. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers. "Now they're experimenting and taking the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menused restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazzy car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good. . . . A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager.

Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

The FBI has launched an investigation into the cause of Sunday's train wreck near Foundry and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights involving a Soo Line freight train and several Soo Line maintenance crew quarters cars.

Two railroad employees were injured in the mishap. Both remained in fair condition yesterday at Holy Family Hospital. Gilardo Cervantes, 23, of Schiller Park, was burned in the accident. James Miller, 53 of Minneapolis, suffered a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred about 8:10 p.m. when the northbound 63-car freight train, veered onto a spur on which several cars from a maintenance crew work train were being stored. Men living in the quarters cars have been working on railroad crossings in the Wheeling area.

THE FREIGHT TRAIN slammed into the quarters cars knocking several of them off the track and starting a fire in one of them. A track maintenance machine, also stored on the spur, was destroyed in the accident.

A spokesman for the railroad said yesterday that vandals apparently tampered with the switch that sent the freight train onto the siding.

Both the FBI and members of the Cook County Sheriff's Police are investigating the accident. An FBI official told the Herald yesterday that the agency was investigating the mishap for "a possible violation of the federal train wreck statute."

Among the quarters cars destroyed in the collision was one the maintenance crews used as a shower car. Railroad officials theorized that it was a propane gas water heater in the cars used for showers that started the fire.

FIREMEN FROM five area fire departments fought the blaze. Men from the Prospect Heights Fire Department sent three trucks to the fire.

A spokesman for the Forest River Fire Protection District said 20 men from his department fought the fire. Firemen brought the fire under control about an hour after they arrived, the spokesman said.

Vehicles from the Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Wheeling fire departments also answered the alarm.

One of the quarters cars knocked from the tracks overturned and came to rest against a Commonwealth Edison utility line tower. The tower, though damaged, did not fall.

Dist 59 Referendum

Meetings Are Planned

School Dist. 59 administrators and board of education members will answer questions on Saturday's referendum in meetings with the public this week.

Meetings are scheduled as follows:
Tuesday — Brentwood School, PTA board meeting, 8 p.m.; Byrd School, PTO meeting, 7:30 p.m.; Rupley School, PTO board meeting, 8 p.m.; Salt Creek School, Parents' Organization, 8 p.m.; Ridge School, PTA meeting, 8 p.m.; and Clearmont School, "YES" voters, 8 p.m.

Wednesday — Grant Wood School, Second Cup of Coffee, 9:45 a.m.; Grant Wood School, PTA board meeting, 8 p.m.; Einstein School, PTA meeting, 8 p.m.; and Mrs. Hugh Harbin, 32 Lancaster, Elk Grove Village, coffee in her home, 8 p.m.

Wednesday — Cook School, Second Cup of Coffee, 10 a.m.; Homes Junior High School, PTO meeting, 8 p.m.; and Einstein School, Referendum Coffee in Learning Center, 3:30 p.m.

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

Police Vote Set

The addition of two new officers to the Mount Prospect police department will be voted on by the village board tonight.

If approved, the two new men will bring the total number of officers to 31.

Although both Police Chief Newell Esmond and Village Mgr. Virgil Barnett endorse the addition of the two men, they feel more policemen are needed to meet the needs of the community on a permanent basis.

In other business, the board will consider hiring an administrative assistant to the village manager.

Barnett recommended the idea of an assistant.

If approved by the board, Barnett said the new assistant would provide a direct line of communication between all village departments, boards and commissions of the local government.

Barnett said earlier that the assistant would receive a comparably low salary of approximately $8,500 a year.

Other action to be put before the board include provisions for a preannexation agreement between the Northern Illinois Gas Co. and the village and authorization for the purchase of 11 new fire hydrants.

Speeders Beware

If you drive with a heavy foot on the accelerator, you better watch out.

The chances are better today you'll be caught, if you're speeding.

Mount Prospect has purchased another radar unit to combat an upsurge of traffic violations which have been reported to police in recent months by citizens.

"The purpose of the new radar unit is not just to set up a speed trap," said Village Mgr. Virgil Barnett, "but to serve as a device to educate the public."

Barnett and Police Chief Newell Esmond said a large number of complaints have been directed to the police department by residents who claim there's been a lot of speeding going on in their neighborhoods.

"We thought the majority of the violators were from outside Mount Prospect, but actually they're our own people," said Esmond.

"North side residents complained some time ago about speeders, so we set up a trap and found that two-thirds of the violators lived in Mount Prospect," he said.

Esmond said the new radar unit will be used on side streets in the village as well as main thoroughfares.

"This is the only way police can cope with traffic problems. The purpose is primarily to educate the public, but you can bet your life we'll be giving more tickets now," said Esmond.

COULD Will Give Program

The Northwest Suburban Council on Understanding Learning Disabilities (COULD) will present a program on the child with behavior and learning problems at 8 p.m. Thursday at Prospect High School, 801 Kensington, Mount Prospect.

Guest speakers will be Dennis Sullivan and Carl Stonier of the CIBA Pharmaceutical Co. They will discuss identification and treatment of children with learning disabilities.

A film, "Cerebral Dysfunction in Children," will be shown. It illustrates the behavior patterns and problems of the child suffering from this problem.

Although cerebral dysfunction is common, many family physicians are not aware of it and many parents and children suffer because of it. The dysfunction can be dramatically improved by good management, medication and understanding on the part of parents, physicians and teachers.

Mayor Sabonjian

To Talk Tomorrow

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian will address the Northwest Suburban Shrine Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Maitre d' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village.

Sabonjian has been an outspoken critic of rioters, saying they should either love America or leave it and go to Russia.

SABONJIAN WILL SPEAK on current problems of the cities.

Interested men are invited to attend.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

Con-Con Voting Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 50 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimagined by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics.

Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

Crew Has Leaf Trouble

November is the month for roasting chestnuts, planning Thanksgiving dinner and Christmas shopping.

But for the Mount Prospect public works department, late autumn is the season for sweeping away last summer's shade.

From early October until December, the crew at the public works department hauls truckloads of leaves, which have been vacuumed off village streets, to dumping grounds in the area. And it's no easy task.

The department's leaf removal program, using machinery to vacuum the leaves off the street rather than sweep them into piles for dump-truck pick-ups, is in its second season.

AND AS WITH ALL new projects, it takes time before the program is operating as smoothly and as efficiently as possible. Especially to satisfy Dave Creamer, director of public works, who is trying his best to provide service to residents.

"I'm not happy with the leaf removal program this year, but I know what improvements need to be made to increase our efficiency next season. We plan to purchase an additional leaf vacuum as well as outfit the older machinery with new equipment."

"Also, we're still ironing out the flaws in our new vacuum equipment plus getting acquainted with this type of pick-up. We're trying as best we can with our equipment to provide the best possible service for residents, but it takes time and we hope residents will be patient with us," Creamer said.

Creamer's crew has been working every day including weekends to get the leaves off the ground before Dec. 1 when the equipment will be converted for snow removal. But the efficiency of the machinery has been hampered by the rainy weather.

"WE'VE BEEN HAVING problems with wet leaves clogging the equipment, and this is one reason why we recommend that residents do not water down leaf piles. Under the new program, all residents have to do is rake their leaves into the street and we pick them up."

"But some residents, who don't want the leaves blowing back into their yards, water down the piles which makes our job a lot tougher and harder. So I recommend if residents are worried about blowing leaves, they should put them in plastic garbage bags and the garbage disposals will collect them," Creamer explained.

He also attributed leaf removal problems to cars parked along the streets. "Residents should avoid parking their cars on the streets in front of their homes during leaf pick-ups. We'd like them to give us the same consideration during the fall as they do during the winter months for snow removal," he said.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS in the community also slow down the crews from removing the leaves as quickly as possible. "We're slowed down by the same traffic problems as residents are. Getting from one point in the village to another takes a lot more time these days than it once did. Plus the village is expanding and we have more areas to canvass and more leaves to pick up," he said.

This year Creamer is hauling loads of leaves to Meadows Park where they're being used as land fill for low areas in the park. "We got a fill about five-feet deep for better than half an acre. That's a lot of leaves," he said.

To assist the department in removing all the leaves before the December deadline, Creamer is asking that all residents rake their leaves into small piles near the curb and to avoid wetting down the leaf piles. "Also we would appreciate it if residents do not rake brush, branches, flower stalks and stones into the leaf piles because these materials just plug up the machinery and it takes longer to get the job done," he explained.

"If residents cooperate with the department, we'll be able to provide equal service to everyone in the community by getting to every area on a weekly basis to pick-up the leaves and eliminate another nuisance for the community," Creamer said.

History Program Set

The Mount Prospect Historical Society will present a program on the history and settlement of Elk Grove and Wheeling Townships at the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce dinner-meeting to be held Nov. 19 at the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand Road at Euclid Avenue.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 p.m. with the general meeting scheduled for 8:15 p.m. For dinner reservations contact Marie Smosna at 259-4000 or Paul Dasso at 259-0500.

GI Hits Pullout

by TOM JACHIMIEC

An Army infantryman who was wounded in Vietnam last August said recently that he feels the United States could do a better job of fighting the war if there was not so much pressure to withdraw.

Spec. 4 Raymond Behm, 20, of 563 Laurel St., Elk Grove Village was asked to give his views on the war and the Moratorium demonstrations.

"The military is being forced to make moves to keep people back home happy, at least that's my personal opinion," he said. Behm said the moratorium did not prove anything and that he was against it.

He said if the people participating in the moratorium could see what it is like in Vietnam, they would not be marching so much.

ON THE SOUTH Vietnamese Army, Behm said he thought the United States was spoiling the people by doing most of their fighting for them.

He said he would like to have seen more fighting by them, side-by-side, with the Americans. He added that if the United States pulled out altogether, the Viet Cong would "run all over" the South Vietnamese army.

Turning to his reasons for joining the service almost two years ago, Behm said he felt he had an obligation, so he enlisted for three years.

"It was a job to be done," he said. "I don't think anybody likes the war, but if you want some benefits you have to make some sacrifices."

Behm was in My Kahn near Bong Son on an ambush mission with the 173rd Airborne Brigade when he was seriously wounded while coming to the aid of some troops.

Ten minutes later he was in a helicopter on his way to a hospital. Within the hour he was on the operating table receiving medical attention that saved his life.

He credited a cigarette lighter and a brave helicopter pilot with saving his life.

Behm explained that when he was hit, it was at night and his unit did not have any flashlights to signal the helicopter pilot to land.

A CIGARETTE LIGHTER was used to signal the pilot, said Behm.

"I don't know how he saw it," he said. "I think it was just a freak of nature that everything worked out."

On Sept. 12 Behm arrived at Great Lakes Naval Hospital near Waukegan where he was being treated for his wounds.

For the most part, he has recovered, but he must still undergo an operation to insert a small plastic plate in the side of his head.

"The doctors told me I was lucky the injury didn't affect my brain," said Behm, a graduate of Forest View High School in Arlington Heights. "It could have been a lot worse."

Behm is still in the hospital, but works there now as a runner in a ward while awaiting discharge because of his disability. He is allowed to come home on weekends.

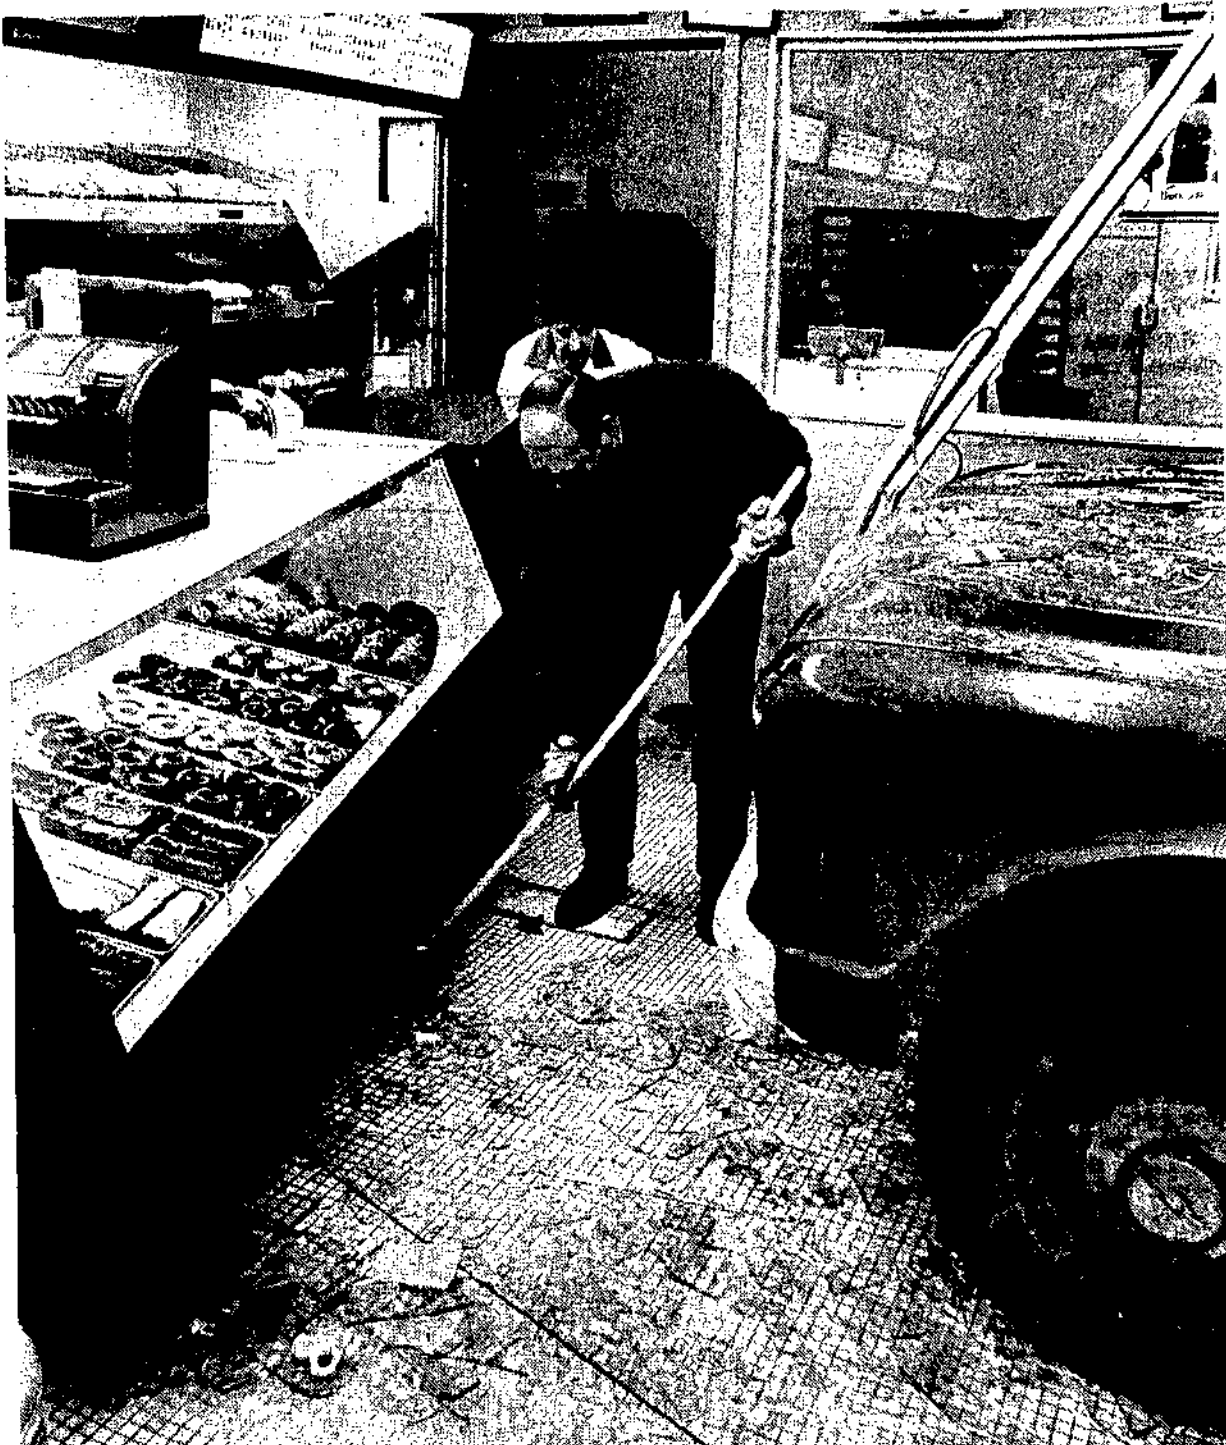

Behm is the second member of his family to receive a Purple Heart. His father received one in World War II when he was also wounded in the head.

Behm said he plans on taking it easy when he gets out, eventually taking on a tool and die apprenticeship.

"I just want to relax and get used to living normal," he said.

RAYMOND BEHM

SELF SERVICE? It happened at Mister Donut's, 700 E. Rand Road, in Mount Prospect yesterday. As the story goes a fellow pulled up to the front of the store in his truck to get a couple of doughnuts and coffee for him and his wife. However, his wife changed her order at the last minute and leaned out the window of the truck to yell at him. But when she did, her foot hit the accelerator and the truck crashed through the front window of the store and came to rest next to the donut counter. No one was injured in the incident. The man, who was not identified, helped sweep up the mess. The accident was later investigated by Illinois State Police.

Plead for 'Special' Help

Mrs. John Spooner presented the case last night for several parents in the Westbrook area who wish special help for their perceptually handicapped children in Dist. 57.

Mrs. Spooner told the Dist. 57 board the students had spent as much as five years "waiting" for testing and additional special teachers.

"The more time that passes, the more help these children need," Mrs. Spooner said.

Superintendent Eric Sahlberg replied that the district now has eight teachers for perceptually handicapped children, twice as many as required by the state.

PARENTS CHALLENGED the minimum figures quoted by Sahlberg and said they felt each child must be helped under the new state legislation. Board member Mrs. Pat Kimball said she recalls administrative requests for additional staff in special education classes. Charles Houchins, board member, asked if the parents were saying the district had not complied with the law. Parents agreed this was the point they were making.

The board heard a report of special education programs offered by the district immediately following the parents' questions. The report had been originally scheduled and was presented by Richard Percy, assistant superintendent; Fred Collett, director of pupil services; and members of the special education staff. Included in the report was a detailed description of the relationship of this district to the Northwest

Suburban Special Education Organization.

In other business the board plans to employ a professional surveyor to determine where the 1.5 mile limits for junior high bus riders will fall on the north side of the district for next year.

SAHLBERG SAID all students who live less than a mile and a half from Lincoln Junior High will be able to ride on a fee plan. He reported the busing will be open to parochial students along the route as well as those in public school.

Trenches have been dug for foundations at Lincoln which is destined to become the sole junior high in the district by the fall of 1970. Sahlberg said the contract for Lee Construction, general contractor, is now in the hands of the builder.

'Peanut Pubs,' Old Town-Style, Hit Suburbs

by DAVE PALERMO

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1936 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a...a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather as mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Scha-

ger. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers. "Now they're experimenting and taking the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menued restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

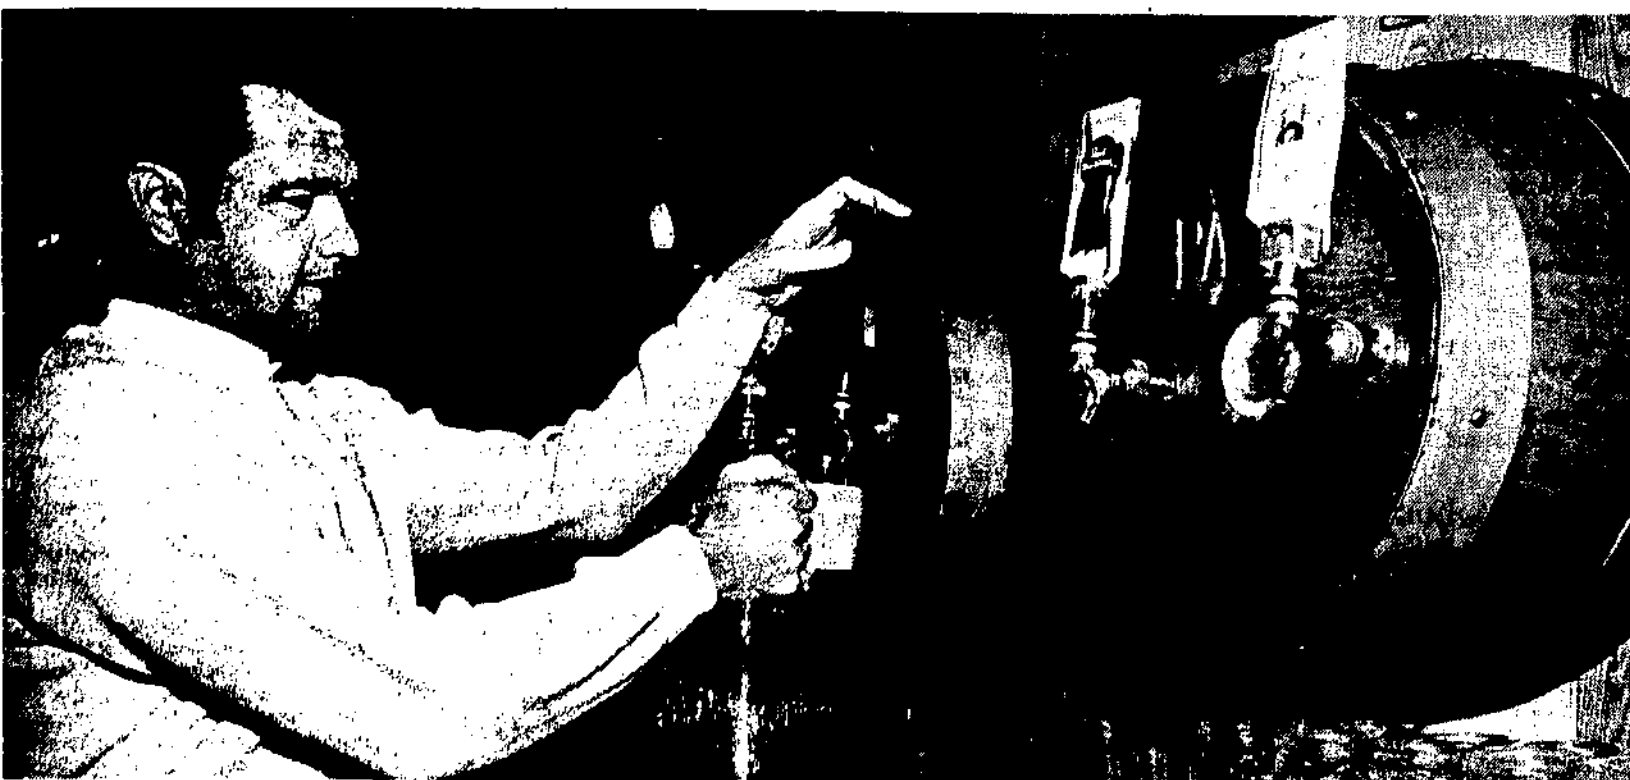

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers. "Young guys get out of school and get a restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Several of the quarters cars, standing on a spur track near Foundry and Wolf roads in Prospect Heights, were rammed Sunday night by a Soo Line freight train. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

Plan Is Success

The Buffalo Grove Jaycees' just completed "Operation Red Ball" has been termed a "complete success" by Bob Van Patten. He and Ed Harrison acted as co-chairmen for the project.

"OPERATION RED BALL" is a fire safety program under which residents receive red decals to affix to the windows of their children's bedrooms. If a fire breaks out in a home with a decal on one of the windows, firemen answering the alarm will first check any rooms with the red decals on the windows for any children who might have taken refuge from the fire.

During the distribution drive, Nov. 1 through 8, more than 60 Jaycees handed about 2,400 of the stickers to Buffalo Grove residents. According to Van Patten, the Jaycees attempted to contact virtually every home in the village.

"The response was tremendous," said Van Patten of the distribution drive. "Nearly every family was waiting for us when we arrived. There was very little explanation of the project required. Everyone who knew of it was willing to cooperate."

"The real success, however," Van Patten stressed, "will come if everyone puts the decals on the windows."

Van Patten said the decals would be available for a time at the Rose-Lynn Floor Covering Store in the Ranch Mart Shopping Center.

THE JAYCEES PLAN to set up an arrangement with the Buffalo Grove Volunteer Fire Department, so the decals will be available on a permanent basis through the fire department.

The Jaycees paid for the printing of the decals and distributed them free. The idea of the red decals originated in the eastern United States. It came about after studies were made into the reasons behind children's deaths in house fires.

Those studies revealed that when a fire breaks out in a home, often the children will seek safety in their bedrooms, rather than trying to escape the burning house.

The "Red Ball" decal on a window will notify firemen answering an alarm that the bedroom with the decal is a child's room and that a child might be in the room.

Deny Zoning For Nursery

The Cook County Board denied a request for rezoning Monday, and, as a result, thwarted construction of a nursery school on Elmhurst Road, just north of Willow Road in Prospect Heights.

The Northwest Suburban Preschool Building Association requested rezoning in September of the land under a special use category.

At that time more than a dozen Prospect Heights residents protested the rezoning because the lot is now zoned for single-family residences, similar to the surrounding lots.

THE COOK COUNTY Zoning Board of Appeals sent a report to the county board a few weeks ago recommending that the rezoning request be denied.

The report listed three reasons why the lot should retain its single-family residence zoning. The main factor is that the neighborhood is predominantly single-family homes with the exception of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, 600 feet west of the lot.

Another concern of the zoning board dealt with the possibility of the school's moving its facilities. According to the report, "the neighborhood would be burdened with a building that couldn't be converted into a single-family home."

The final point emphasized is the traffic situation on Route 83. Bringing children to school would cause an additional traffic problem, according to the report.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a... a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather as mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Schager. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers. "Now they're experimenting and taking the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menued restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazz car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good... A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager.

Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.

Reset Meeting

Wheeling Township's board of auditors meeting has been rescheduled for 4 p.m. this afternoon. Previously the meeting was to have been held at 8 p.m. tonight.

At this afternoon's meeting, auditors plan to discuss the pending request for a sewer easement along the township garage property on Hintz Road near Wheeling.

Mushrooms for World Tables

by JUDY COVELLI

Some 50 to 700 pounds of mushrooms leave Elk Grove Township every day.

Interview Candidates For Park Position

Interviews of prospective park commissioners are now being conducted by the four members of the River Trails Park District board.

After board member Thomas Rector was transferred to another area for business reasons, the board decided to appoint a replacement.

The new member will serve only until the next election.

Three people have submitted their names to the board, and will probably be interviewed before the next meeting Dec. 11. They are Russ Oxford, Louis Myers, and Joyce DeLatour.

Approximately six people were interviewed a year ago for another park board vacancy. They will also be considered if they wish.

They are shipped out by the father and son team of George Hasselman senior and junior of 1225 E. Oakton St. The Hasselmans have been working a mushroom farm behind their home for the past five years.

A total of 41 years experience by the older Hasselman backs their mushroom growing expertise. The Hasselmans grew mushrooms in Des Plaines before moving to the larger plant, a large wooden shed, in Elk Grove.

THE TWO MEN AND a third full-time worker produce mushrooms from early fall until May or when the weather turns warm. Mushrooms need a temperature of 58 to 60 degrees to thrive and will die if exposed only 24 hours to temperatures around 70 degrees.

The mushrooms are planted in 36,000 square feet of growing area through a process which takes a total of about eight weeks.

Dressed in warm clothes and miners' caps, the mushroom growers walk through 10 rooms filled with mushrooms, either planting, watering, replanting or picking.

It's not at all like going to the store and buying "fresh" mushrooms.

The mushrooms require close attention and when they are ripe must be picked that day and no later. According to the senior Hasselman, "They grow just like people. Some small ones may have been growing longer than larger ones next to them."

THE WHOLE PROCESS of producing mushrooms is sterilized. The Hasselmans described the process.

"The spores which come from underneath the caps are inoculated into bottles of wheat germ, rye germ, tobacco stem or something familiar to form a mold."

"They are incubated for three or four weeks in the bottles and then incubated in sterilized compost for two weeks to 21 days. After the spawn grow through the compost they are cased in mushroom beds for about two weeks in black soil or Canadian peat moss, mixed with agricultural lime, and are kept very wet."

"About two weeks later the pinheads will start to form and after eight days at temperatures of 58 to 60 degrees the mushrooms are ready to pick. A man can pick about 300 pounds of mushrooms a day if they are large mushrooms," according to George Hasselman Sr.

Unlike many other agricultural items, mushrooms have had no real changes in their preparation or growing process over the years, the Hasselmans said.

Their mushrooms, which are white, beige or brown, are packed in one pound or five ounce boxes. The color has no effect on the flavor, and neither does the size, George Sr. said. Large ones are preferred for stuffing and smaller ones for sauteing.

EVERYTHING AT THE Hasselman farm is done by hand, and each pound is weighed in a small room in the mushroom plant and packaged in a small carton labeled "Fairy Ring Mushrooms." Most of these are crated and shipped to Chicago for market.

A large sign in front of the home, however, indicates that mushrooms may be bought from the plant fresh.

SELF SERVICE? It happened at Mister Donut's, 700 E. Rand Road, in Mount Prospect yesterday. As the story goes a fellow pulled up to the front of the store in his truck to get a couple of doughnuts and coffee for him and his wife. However, his wife changed her order at the last minute and leaned out the window of the truck to yell at him. But when she did, her foot hit the accelerator and the truck crashed through the front window of the store and came to rest next to the donut counter. No one was injured in the incident. The man, who was not identified, helped sweep up the mess. The accident was later investigated by Illinois State Police.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

The FBI has launched an investigation into the cause of Sunday's train wreck near Foundry and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights involving a Soo Line freight train and several Soo Line maintenance crew quarters cars.

Two railroad employees were injured in the mishap. Both remained in fair condition yesterday at Holy Family Hospital. Gildardo Cervantes, 23, of Schiller Park was burned in the accident. James Miller, 53 of Minneapolis, suffered a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred about 8:10 p.m. when the northbound 63 car freight train, veered onto a spur on which several cars from a maintenance crew work train were being stored. Men living in the quarters cars have been working on railroad crossings in the Wheeling area.

THE FREIGHT TRAIN slammed into the quarters cars knocking several of them off the track and starting a fire in one of them. A track maintenance machine, also stored on the spur, was destroyed in the accident.

A spokesman for the railroad said yesterday that vandals apparently tampered with the switch that sent the freight train onto the siding.

Both the FBI and members of the Cook County Sheriff's Police are investigating the accident. An FBI official told the Herald yesterday that the agency was investigating the mishap for "a possible violation of the federal train wreck statute."

Among the quarters cars destroyed in the collision was one the maintenance crews used as a shower car. Railroad officials theorized that it was a propane gas water heater in the cars used for showers that started the fire.

FIREMEN FROM five area fire departments fought the blaze. Men from the Prospect Heights Fire Department sent three trucks to the fire.

A spokesman for the Forest River Fire Protection District said 20 men from his department fought the fire. Firemen brought the fire under control about an hour after they arrived, the spokesman said.

Vehicles from the Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Wheeling fire departments also answered the alarm.

One of the quarters cars knocked from the tracks overturned and came to rest against a Commonwealth Edison utility line tower. The tower, though damaged, did not fall.

Begin Clearing

Developers have begun to clear land for a shopping center in Wheeling west of the Soo Line railroad tracks on Dundee Road. Final approval of the project by various village governmental bodies is still pending, however.

The center will include a Dominick's Food Store and "10 or 12 smaller stores," according to Village Manager Matthew Golden. It is being built by Hollywood Builders.

THE QUESTION OF whether an indoor movie theater will be built on the land adjacent to the shopping center has not been settled. The theater's developer wants to lease land on a Commonwealth Edison right-of-way for theater parking. Negotiations between the developer and Commonwealth Edison are going on.

Golden explained the plans for the shopping center have been approved as far as meeting flood plain regulations in the village. He added, however, that the developer will have to file for a zoning change with the zoning board of appeals and will need plan commission approval before application can be made for building permits.

Mission Continues

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

For Charles H. "Pete" Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon the moment of truth came on the back side of the moon at 9:47 p.m. Chicago time.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1969.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Several of the quarters cars, standing on a spur track near Foundry and bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

Wolf roads in Prospect Heights, were rammed Sunday night by a Soo Line freight train. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour

Award Pool Pact

June 15 is the date set for the opening of the new River Trails swimming pool at Woodland Trail Park, Wolf Road and Euclid Avenue in Prospect Heights, according to Barbet Builders.

Barbet Builders of River Grove, was awarded the contract to construct a swimming pool complex for the River Trails Park District last week.

Barbet Builders' total bid of $397,777 was the lowest made at a district board meeting in October. The park commissioners selected the low bid after the district architect firm, Ralph H. Burke Inc., made a thorough study of all eight bids submitted.

PLANS CALL FOR A T-shaped pool with a diving well, a "kiddie" pool and a winterized bath house. The pool complex will be able to accommodate 1,000 people.

According to Bernard Carrigan, president of Barbet Builders, ground was broken Thursday. "If we get the bottom of the pool in before the frost, we should be able to put the walls of the pool in during the spring and meet our June goal."

"We should also be able to close in the bath house (build a shell) within seven weeks. Then we can work on the interior during the winter months," added Carrigan.

The only thing that might slow progress is weather and labor problems, according to Park Director Marvin Weiss.

The district is still waiting to receive a building permit from Cook County. "We already have a building permit from the state, so approval from Cook County is more or less a formality," Weiss said. "The county will not release a permit until they receive a letter from Citizen's Utility Co. (CU) certifying the pool site for water service. And CU is waiting for a 'go ahead' from the Illinois Commerce Commission."

Deny Zoning For Nursery

The Cook County Board denied a request for rezoning Monday, and, as a result, thwarted construction of a nursery school on Elmhurst Road, just north of Willow Road in Prospect Heights.

The Northwest Suburban Preschool Building Association requested rezoning in September of the land under a special use category.

At that time more than a dozen Prospect Heights residents protested the rezoning because the lot is now zoned for single-family residences, similar to the surrounding lots.

THE COOK COUNTY Zoning Board of Appeals sent a report to the county board a few weeks ago recommending that the rezoning request be denied.

The report listed three reasons why the lot should retain its single-family residence zoning. The main factor is that the neighborhood is predominantly single-family homes with the exception of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, 600 feet west of the lot.

Another concern of the zoning board dealt with the possibility of the school's moving its facilities. According to the report, "the neighborhood would be burdened with a building that couldn't be converted into a single-family home."

The final point emphasized is the traffic situation on Route 83. Bringing children to school would cause an additional traffic problem, according to the report.

The Northwest Suburban Preschool Building Association will probably sell the lot on Route 83 now, and look for another location for the new school, according to John Conway, attorney for the rezoning applicants.

Holmes PTA Sponsors Social Dance Class

The PTA of Holmes Junior High School in Wheeling is sponsoring a social dance class for eighth graders. Erv Stromer will be the instructor. Stromer has taught social dancing in schools on the North Shore for several years.

There will be 10 lessons beginning Thursday and continuing through April 9. The classes will be Thursday evenings from 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. The first session, this Thursday, will begin at 6:30 p.m. however. Classes will be held in the Holmes cafeteria.

There will be two parties included in the 10 lessons. The scheduled dates for the lessons are Nov. 26, Dec. 4 and 28, Jan. 8 and 22, Feb. 5 and 19, March 5 and 19, and April 9.

One of the parties will be on Jan. 22. The other has not yet been scheduled. Parents will chaperone the sessions and plan parties.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

Con-Con Voting Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 18 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimagined by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics. Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

'Peanut Pubs,' Old Town-Style, Hit Suburbs

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1336 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a...a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather a mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

SELF SERVICE? It happened at Mister Donut's, 700 E. Rand Road, in Mount Prospect yesterday. As the story goes a fellow pulled up to the front of the store in his truck to get a couple of doughnuts and coffee for him and his wife. However, his wife changed her order at the last minute and leaned out the window of the truck to yell at him. But when she did, her foot hit the accelerator and the truck crashed through the front window of the store and came to rest next to the donut counter. No one was injured in the incident. The man, who was not identified, helped sweep up the mess. The accident was later investigated by Illinois State Police.

GOOD MORNING!

TODAY
FROM UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Mission Continues

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

For Charles H. "Pete" Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon the moment of truth came on the back side of the moon at 9:47 p.m. Chicago time.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

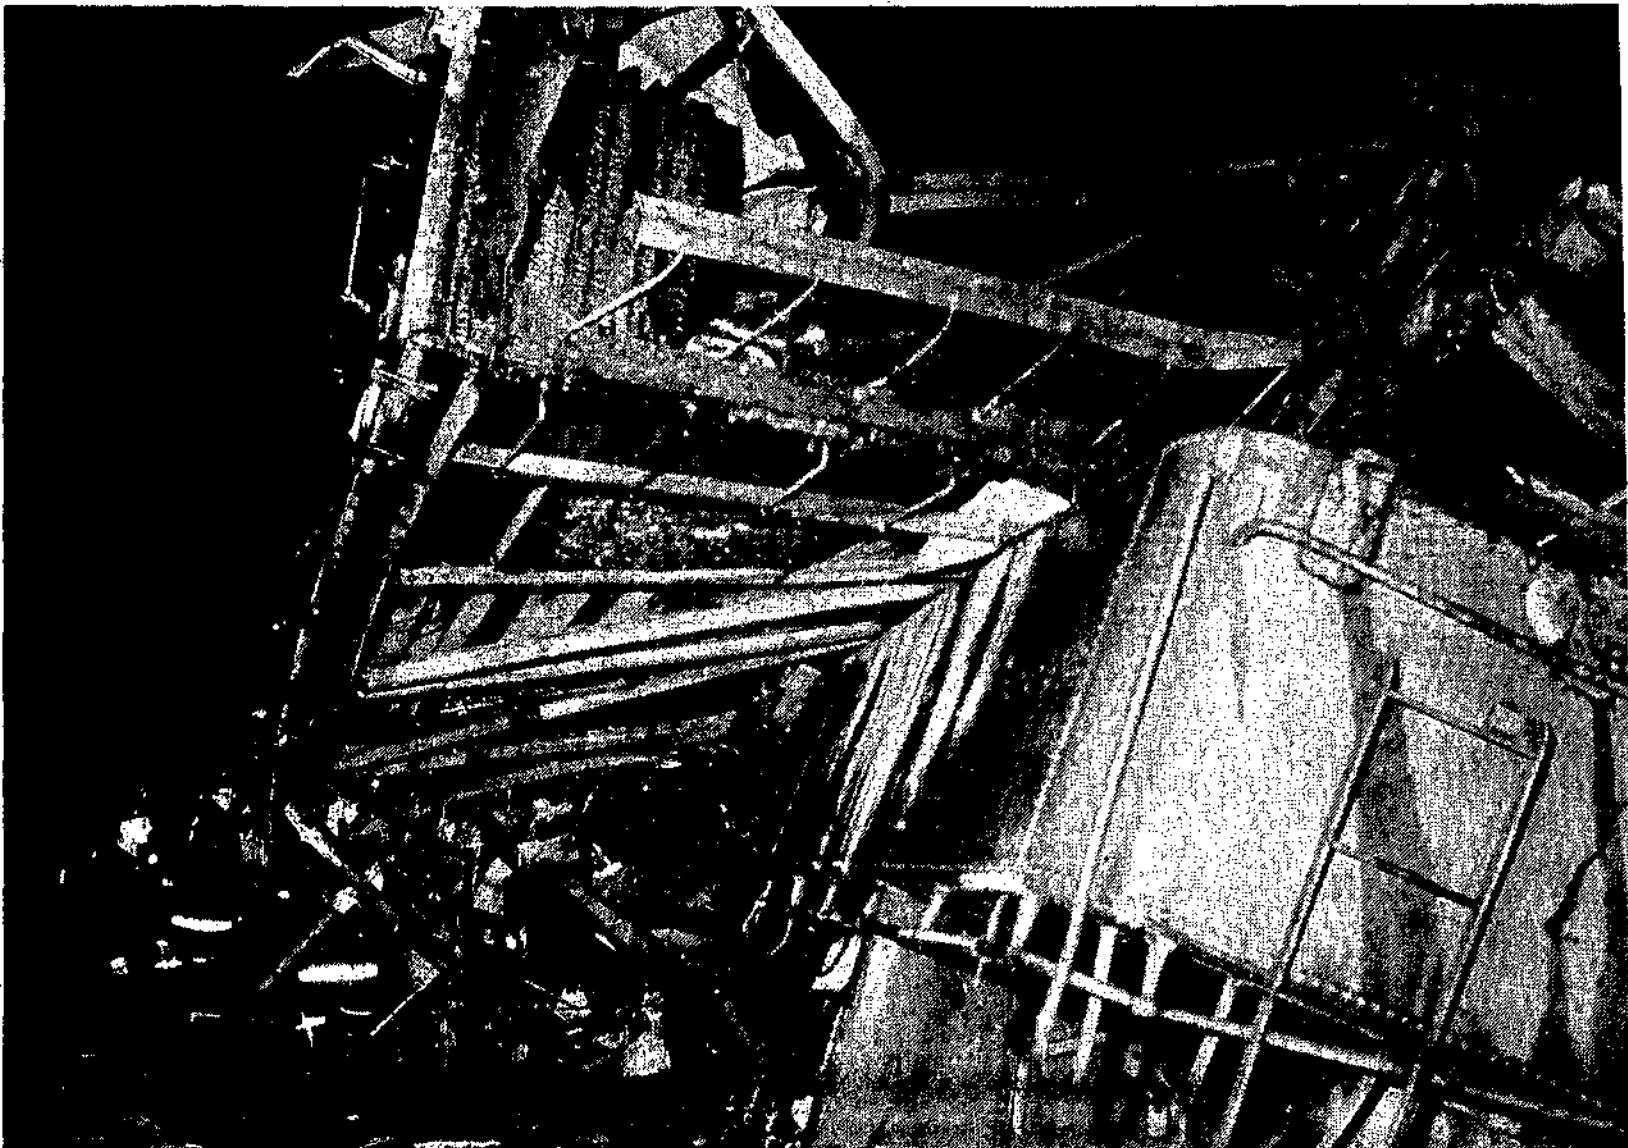

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Several of the quarters cars, standing on a spur track near Foundry and

Wolf roads in Prospect Heights, were rammed Sunday night by a Soo Line freight train. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

Plan Is Success

The Buffalo Grove Jaycees' just completed "Operation Red Ball" has been termed a "complete success" by Bob Van Patten. He and Ed Harrison acted as co-chairmen for the project.

"OPERATION RED BALL" is a fire safety program under which residents receive red decals to affix to the windows of their children's bedrooms. If a fire breaks out in a home with a decal on one of the windows, firemen answering the alarm will first check any rooms with the red decals on the windows for any children who might have taken refuge from the fire.

During the distribution drive, Nov. 1 through 8, more than 60 Jaycees handed out 2,400 of the stickers to Buffalo Grove residents. According to Van Patten, the Jaycees attempted to contact virtually every home in the village.

"The response was tremendous," said Van Patten of the distribution drive. "Nearly every family was waiting for us when we arrived. There was very little explanation of the project required. Everyone who knew of it was willing to cooperate."

"The real success, however," Van Patten stressed, "will come if everyone puts the decals on the windows."

Van Patten said the decals would be available for a time at the Rose-Lynn Floor Covering Store in the Ranch Mart Shopping Center.

THE JAYCEES PLAN to set up an arrangement with the Buffalo Grove Volunteer Fire Department, so the decals will be available on a permanent basis through the fire department.

The Jaycees paid for the printing of the decals and distributed them free. The idea of the red decals originated in the eastern United States. It came about after studies were made into the reasons behind children's deaths in house fires.

Those studies revealed that when a fire breaks out in a home, often the children will seek safety in their bedrooms, rather than trying to escape the burning house.

The "Red Ball" decal on a window will notify firemen answering an alarm that the bedroom with the decal is a child's room and that a child might be in the room.

Deny Zoning For Nursery

The Cook County Board denied a request for rezoning Monday, and, as a result, thwarted construction of a nursery school on Elmhurst Road, just north of Willow Road in Prospect Heights.

The Northwest Suburban Preschool Building Association requested rezoning in September of the land under a special use category.

At that time more than a dozen Prospect Heights residents protested the rezoning because the lot is now zoned for single-family residences, similar to the surrounding lots.

THE COOK COUNTY Zoning Board of Appeals sent a report to the county board a few weeks ago recommending that the rezoning request be denied.

The report listed three reasons why the lot should retain its single-family residence zoning. The main factor is that the neighborhood is predominantly single-family homes with the exception of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, 600 feet west of the lot.

Another concern of the zoning board dealt with the possibility of the school's moving its facilities. According to the report, "the neighborhood would be burdened with a building that couldn't be converted into a single-family home."

The final point emphasized is the traffic situation on Route 83. Bringing children to school would cause an additional traffic problem, according to the report.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo-Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

Con-Con Voting Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a "slightly" higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimagined by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics. Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

'Peanut Pubs,' Old Town-Style, Hit Suburbs

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

by DAVE PALERMO

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1936 E Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes. "Peanuts are sort of a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather as a mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Schager. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers. "Now they're experimenting and taking the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menused restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazy car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good. A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager. Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.

Reset Meeting

Wheeling Township's board of auditors meeting has been rescheduled for 4 p.m. this afternoon. Previously the meeting was to have been held at 8 p.m. tonight.

At this afternoon's meeting, auditors plan to discuss the pending request for a sewer easement along the township garage property on Hintz Road near Wheeling.

Mushrooms for World Tables

by JUDY COVELLI

Some 50 to 700 pounds of mushrooms leave Elk Grove Township every day.

Interview Candidates For Park Position

Interviews of prospective park commissioners are now being conducted by the four members of the River Trails Park District board.

After board member Thomas Rector was transferred to another area for business reasons the board decided to appoint a replacement.

The new member will serve only until the next election.

Three people have submitted their names to the board, and will probably be interviewed before the next meeting Dec. 11. They are Russ Oxford, Louis Myers, and Joyce DeLaTour.

Approximately six people were interviewed a year ago for another park board vacancy. They will also be considered if they wish.

They are shipped out by the father and son team of George Hasselman senior and junior of 1225 E. Oakton St. The Hasselmans have been working a mushroom farm behind their home for the past five years.

A total of 41 years experience by the elder Hasselman backs their mushroom growing expertise. The Hasselmans grew mushrooms in Des Plaines before moving to the larger plant, a large wooden shed, in Elk Grove.

THE TWO MEN AND a third full-time worker produce mushrooms from early fall until May or when the weather turns warm. Mushrooms need a temperature of 58 to 60 degrees to thrive and will die if exposed only 24 hours to temperatures around 70 degrees.

The mushrooms are planted in 36,000 square feet of growing area through a process which takes a total of about eight weeks.

Dressed in warm clothes and miners' caps, the mushroom growers walk through 10 rooms filled with mushrooms, either planting, watering, replanting or picking.

It's not at all like going to the store and buying "fresh" mushrooms.

The mushrooms require close attention and when they are ripe must be picked that day and no later. According to the senior Hasselman, "They grow just like people. Some small ones may have been growing longer than larger ones next to them."

THE WHOLE PROCESS of producing mushrooms is sterilized. The Hasselmans described the process.

"The spores which come from underneath the caps are inoculated into bottles of wheat germ, rye germ, tobacco stem or something familiar to form a mold."

"They are incubated for three or four weeks in the bottles and then incubated in sterilized compost for two weeks to 21 days. After the spawn grow through the compost they are cased in mushroom beds for about two weeks in black soil or Canadian peat moss, mixed with agricultural lime and are kept very wet."

"About two weeks later the pinheads will start to form and after eight days at temperatures of 58 to 60 degrees the mushrooms are ready to pick. A man can pick about 300 pounds of mushrooms a day if they are large mushrooms," according to George Hasselman Sr.

Unlike many other agricultural items, mushrooms have had no real changes in their preparation or growing process over the years, the Hasselmans said.

Their mushrooms, which are white, beige or brown, are packed in one pound or five ounce boxes. The color has no effect on the flavor, and neither does the size, George Sr. said. Large ones are preferred for stuffing and smaller ones for sauteing.

EVERYTHING AT THE Hasselman farm is done by hand, and each pound is weighed in a small room in the mushroom plant and packaged in a small carton labeled "Fairy Ring Mushrooms." Most of these are crated and shipped to Chicago for market.

A large sign in front of the home, however, indicates that mushrooms may be bought from the plant fresh.

Parents, Teachers To Meet

Teachers in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15 are meeting with individual parents today for parent-teacher conferences.

Dist. 15 administrators and teachers have been preparing for Conference Day since early fall. "We feel the parent conference is important. Although all parents won't be in today, teachers will have conferences with every parent before the winter recess," Marion Omiatek, curriculum director, said.

To make the 15 to 20 minute conference as worthwhile as possible, Omiatek suggests parents be prepared before they go to school.

Areas which parents should think about before a conference are the child's interests at home, his special abilities and difficulties, attitude toward school, health, and personality.

Parents should keep in mind that each participant, the teacher and the parent, has a valuable contribution to make in the conference. The teacher offers a professional evaluation of the child at school; the parents offer their knowledge of the child at home.

At the conference, parents should help establish a cordial relationship at the beginning. The teacher will give a progress report on the child; the parent should respond with information about the child at home, and together the parent and teacher should make plans for encouraging the child in his educational program.

A parent should be prompt both in coming and leaving. If a parent is not satisfied with the conference, he should request another at a different time.

Respect for a teacher's confidence in not discussing the conference with a child is important. Children will ask about their conferences and parents should have something pleasant to say about the child's progress. He should try to enlist his enthusiasm in the upcoming plans for his future.

"On Parent-Teacher Conference Day a teacher usually sees 10 to 12 parents," Omiatek said. "If a parent is concerned or interested in having a conference soon and will not be seeing the teacher on Conference Day, he should call the school and ask for an appointment."

Con-Con Balloting Polls Open Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT is expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

Family Counseling Service Under Way

A family counseling service as recommended by the Palatine Township Youth Committee has begun local operations.

The service offered by the Salvation Army will be available on a referral basis in the Town Hall.

Because of the present limitation of funds, cases will only be taken when referrals are made from various organizations within the community, according to Emerson Thomas, township youth coordinator.

Last week, letters announcing the family counseling service were sent to churches, schools, scout troops and the YMCA.

The need for such a service was determined about a year ago, after a survey was taken by the township youth committee.

THE SURVEY REVEALED that 689 incidents of a need for family counseling were reported during a 12-month period.

Although the youth committee reported a need for the service, there were no funds available to begin operations at the time.

Present financing of the service includes township funds of $500 to $1,000 from the Salvation Army, with hopes for an expansion of the service as more funds become available.

THE YOUTH committee's survey began in September of 1968 when 92 questionnaires were sent to doctors, clergy, schools, institutions and agencies in the township.

Forty-four letters were returned. Participants were asked to estimate the number of cases seen in a 12-month period, which, in their professional opinion, were in need of family counseling.

The case most often mentioned resulted from marital discord which represented 434 of the 689 incidents.

Most of those answering the questionnaire cited the difficulty with referrals in Palatine Township since there was no family agency.

A DOCTOR WITH a large practice said he might have made 40 referrals if there was some place to send them.

Already, the Salvation Army family counseling service has handled some cases in the time it's been available locally. Although the group has an agency in Des Plaines, it was agreed the Palatine Town Hall would provide a more accessible location for the service.

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

Referendum Canvass Tonight in Dist. 15

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15 will canvass the Nov. 15 referendum results at a special meeting at 8 tonight in the district office, 505 S. Quentin Road, Palatine.

Election results must be certified and accepted by the board of education within 10 days of an election. After the special meeting, the board will hold a regular adjourned meeting to consider the situation on the Willow Bend School rebids and hear a report on the math program in the district.

Blackboard

Slumber At Polls

by JUDY BRANDES

Referendums are great sources of trivia in the suburbs, and with an 11-0 record, Dist. 15 has a lot to talk about.

Unofficially, 2,033 Palatine and Rolling Meadows residents voted in Saturday's election. More than in any of the other 11 elections.

Sixteen teachers spent two hours each Saturday calling room mothers and PTA executive officers to remind them to vote.

Eighteen residents, many of them already active in school activities, earned $20 each as judges for the district's six precincts. The hourly wage is $2.00, which makes it difficult to get people to work.

One voter in Rolling Meadows didn't have a car to get to the polls, so a Dist. 15 principal provided transportation.

More people voted for the $9.3 million building program than for either the educational fund tax rate increase or the rent levy.

More people voted against the rent levy than against either the tax increase or the building program.

The rent levy was the biggest money-

saver of the three propositions. The money is interest-free.

Twice as many people in precincts one, three and six voted this year than in the last referendum election in 1967.

One-third more voted this year than in 1969 in precinct four.

In precinct one, 37 more people voted this year. In precinct two, 18 less voted this year than in 1967.

Precincts one and two are Rolling Meadows.

Whoops, everything about the November referendum is supposed to be terrific.

It is. In Rolling Meadows, the voter turnout was terrifically low.

There are about 2,600 homes in Rolling Meadows. Conservatively, that is 5,000 voters. Only 377 came out to vote Saturday. If you are a mathematician, it's about 7 per cent of the voters.

People are getting tired of going to the polls. This year five elections are taking place in three months. Everyone over the age of 21 is given the responsibility of voting. Whether they accept it or not is their own decision.

But there is another responsibility most people in the community have, children. It's a parent's responsibility to educate his children. Whether or not he supported the referendum, a parent should have voted Saturday.

The last piece of trivia is the most interesting. One-third of those who voted were against the referendum. Yet there was no known opposition to it. No letters to the editor, no people at the public meeting on the referendum, no anti-referendum gatherings or speeches. How come?

It was the silent minority speaking. May they slumber until the next referendum.

Football Is Meet Topic

Plans for a junior football program in Palatine next year will be discussed at a public meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Palatine Park District recreation center, adjacent to the swimming pool in Community Park.

The Palatine Jaycees, who sponsor the current Junior Football program, have called the meeting to propose alternatives to the existing program.

For the past several years, the Palatine program has included two teams, lightweight and heavyweight, that have competed in the Northern Illinois Junior Football League. The 11-team league is centered mostly around Fox Lake, Crystal Lake, McHenry and Woodstock.

THE PALATINE heavyweight team won the league championship this year with an 8-0 record.

Alternatives to the current program are being studied because of the large number of Palatine boys who are unable to play football under the existing system. Only 65 boys participated this year, but that is the maximum that can be accommodated under the present program.

One of the alternatives to be discussed includes possible formation of a league which would operate in Palatine.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS and Mount Prospect currently have leagues within their communities. In Arlington Heights, nearly 500 boys participated this year.

A representative of the Arlington Heights league is expected to attend tomorrow's meeting.

The Jaycees intend to form committees of interested persons to investigate possible avenues to follow.

Asks 'Make Learning Real'

Make the abstract process of learning real.

How? By encouraging students to participate and observe. The school should not isolate students from the living issues of the times.

In an appeal to the Palatine-Schaumburg High School Dist. 211 board of education, Quin MacLoughlin of PACEM (Palatine Area Citizens for an Enlightened Majority) told the board he felt relegating activities on current issues like the Moratorium to after school was placing too low a priority on their importance.

"Policies like the ones in the letter (sent out last week to parents) give the students a priority to use. It shows them what importance we place on the issues they are interested in," MacLoughlin said.

McLOUGHLIN SPOKE to the board at its meeting Thursday night about the policy letter sent to parents by Supt. G. A. McElroy. The letter said there would be no in-school observance of the November Moratorium.

"I'm suggesting the school follow-up on student initiative. The system should support inquiry and emotional involvement to make children think. The school should plan school-wide programs on issues."

Responding to a board member's question about the extension of Moratorium days into the school program, MacLoughlin said, "I'm not making a case for the Moratorium at all. It is a bad example."

"Are you suggesting we should allow students to leave school at their own whim?" James Humphrey, board member, asked.

"IN THE BROADEST terms, yes. Students should be able to get involved in every election year to learn by experiencing an event," MacLoughlin replied.

"The great bulk of students are apathetically performing, they are not the kind of students who will make a strong backbone of the democratic system."

According to MacLoughlin, when students express an interest in an issue, the school should allow them to participate in it.

"We have mock elections which they participate in and we have brought outspoken people to the schools to speak,"

Immanuel Church Sets Cornerstone Laying

Members of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palatine will participate in the laying of the cornerstone of their new house of worship Nov. 30.

The special service will begin at 11:10 a.m. with the Rev. Theodore A. Braem officiating.

During the service, the Immanuel Lutheran School Band will lead the singing of a hymn.

Construction of the new church at the corner of Plum Grove Road and Lincoln began early this spring. By early next summer, members hope to see the completion of their new church.

PTA Notes

With the holidays coming, parent-teacher organizations are sponsoring special interest programs for all members of the family.

CARDINAL DRIVE

Father-Daughter Fun Night tonight, at 7:30 will include the "Vocales," a singing group from Forest View High School, and a gymnastics demonstration by a group from the YMCA. Corsages made by the PTA board will be on sale at the door.

JONAS SALK

Students will be able to browse and purchase educational material at the Learning Festival today in the little gym from 8:45 to 3:15 p.m. Parents and visitors can join students at the festival. Magnifiers, viewers, science experiments, magnets and motors, spelling games and educational handicrafts will be on sale.

JANE ADDAMS

A father-son buzz session with Leo Breen, general manager of the White Sox, will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the school gym.

Chandler's of Evanston will display books in the school's book fair Thursday through Saturday, in the school gym. Book markers and book ends will also be on sale. Hours for the fair are Thursday and Friday, 8:30 to 5 p.m.; Friday, 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.

The PTA will have a movie for children, "All Cartoon Show," Saturday, at 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. Cost is 30 cents per child, adults free. Popcorn will be sold for 10 cents.

COMBINED MEETING

Five Rolling Meadows PTA's will hear Harry Volkman, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. at a combined meeting at Carl Sandburg Junior High School. Volkman is WGN radio and television professional meteorologist and a three-time winner of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences "Emmy." He has been a weather broadcaster since 1949.

The program is sponsored by Carl Sandburg, Cardinal Drive, Central Road, Jonas Salk and Kimball Hill PTA's and is open to the public.

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menue restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazzy car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good. . . . A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager. Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.

Mayor Sabonjian To Talk Tomorrow

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian will address the Northwest Suburban Shrine Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Maitre d' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village.

Sabonjian has been an outspoken critic of rioters, saying they should either love America or leave it and go to Russia.

SABONJIAN WILL SPEAK on current problems of the cities.

Interested men are invited to attend.

Western Electric Celebrates

Rolling Meadows Western Electric plant is participating in a week-long celebration of the 100th anniversary of Western Electric.

The company celebrates its anniversary today. Although the week is mainly employee-oriented, another purpose of activities is for management of the company to meet with community leaders, said Bob Brader, Western Electric spokesman. People in the community have been included to the plant Thursday, to meet with management and to see displays in the building.

Displays include an old telephone and equipment, with the washing machines the company once manufactured.

During the week, old movies will be shown during employee lunch hours, including W. C. Fields and Laurel and Hardy.

BRADER SAID THERE is a clown and a magician entertaining and an inter-company news dial advises employees of the activities for the day. The closed telephone line also has recordings of Al Jolson songs, and various community leaders will speak on the line.

On Friday, employees are encouraged to wear mod-style clothing to work, and a dance band will perform in the cafeteria. Displays for the next 100 years also will be shown.

"We take pride in the centennial, it only happens to a few firms," Brader said.

The week is mainly for our people, he said, although it is an opportunity for management to meet with other community people. "We are an established part of the community," he added.

Western Electric was founded in 1869, the same year that America was completing its first transcontinental railroad.

IN 1915, THE FIRST coast-to-coast telephone line from New York to San Francisco was opened.

The company is the manufacturing and supply unit of the nationwide Bell System. In the country Western Electric employs about 170,000 people and has annual sales of about $4 billion. The company has 16 manufacturing plants, 36 service centers, seven regional headquarters and an engineering research center.

A century ago, the company provided the U.S. Army with telegraph instruments used in Indian campaigns. Today, it provides a command guidance system that has steered over 300 space vehicles.

During World War I, Western Electric developed the first radio that enabled pilots to talk to the ground and other pilots. Radio also enabled warships to contact other warships and shore.

Listening devices were developed to help detect enemy planes and guns.

IN WORLD WAR II, the company produced half the Allies' radar, sonar to detect enemy submarines and a new weapon called a "gun director" which helped aim and fire guns electronically.

The company has been involved in defense projects, including DEW-line, construction of the communication links for the Ballistic Early Warning System and air defense systems.

Western Electric was chosen manufacturer for guidance systems for the Air Force's Titan I intercontinental ballistic missile. This equipment was applied to guiding satellite launches for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Air Force.

A globe-circling chain of communication stations that kept ground control in touch with astronauts was headed by Western Electric. Developed and enlarged by NASA, the network is still in use.

IN 1965, THE FIRST electronic switching system was installed for the Bell system. In the same year, the company became the first to apply a laser for industrial purposes by using it to drill holes in diamonds.

This year the company began producing an improved picturephone set for use, initially in business and industry, and later in homes.

Draft Slate In Board Vote

A slate of nine candidates to be recommended for election to the board of Hunting Ridge Homeowners Association for 1970 was drafted at a recent meeting of the group's nominating committee.

To be recommended by the committee are Ed O'Brien, Mel Boldt, John Bullen, Bob Elmgren, Richard Mugalian, Bill Odowski, George Muligano, Bruce Stone and Alan Meyerhoff. All are members of the association and residents of Hunting Ridge.

"We will present this slate for consideration by the general membership at our Dec. 2 meeting," explained Paul Gluck, nominating chairman.

"But we want to make it clear that any member present on election night will be welcome to nominate additional candidates," he added.

Mission Continues

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Apollo 12 slipped into the clutches of lunar gravity yesterday and the three pilots girded for a rocket firing that spells the difference between orbiting the moon and aborting the mission.

For Charles H. "Pete" Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon the moment of truth came on the back side of the moon at 9:47 p.m. Chicago time.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 81, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

SURROUNDED BY FRIENDS, Mrs. Marje Everett, president of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises and operator of Arlington Park race track, attended the dedication of the new Boy Scout service center on Rand Road.

Mrs. Everett donated $300,000 to the center and, in effect, gave a giant helping hand to the Northwest suburban scout organization.

Parents, Teachers To Meet

Teachers in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15 are meeting with individual parents today for parent-teacher conferences.

Dist. 15 administrators and teachers have been preparing for Conference Day since early fall. "We feel the parent conference is important. Although all parents won't be in today, teachers will have conferences with every parent before the winter recess," Marion Omiatek, curriculum director, said.

To make the 15 to 20 minute conference as worthwhile as possible, Omiatek suggests parents be prepared before they go to school.

Areas which parents should think about before a conference are the child's interests at home, his special abilities and difficulties, attitude toward school, health, and personality.

Parents should keep in mind that each participant, the teacher and the parent, has a valuable contribution to make in the conference. The teacher offers a professional evaluation of the child at school; the parents offer their knowledge of the child at home.

At the conference, parents should help establish a cordial relationship at the beginning. The teacher will give a progress report on the child, the parent should respond with information about the child at home, and together the parent and teacher should make plans for encouraging the child in his educational program.

A parent should be prompt both in coming and leaving. If a parent is not satisfied with the conference, he should request another at a different time.

Respect for a teacher's confidence in not discussing the conference with a child is important. Children will ask about their conferences and parents should have something pleasant to say about the child's progress. He should try to enlist his enthusiasm in the upcoming plans for his future.

"On Parent-Teacher Conference Day a teacher usually sees 10 to 12 parents," Omiatek said. "If a parent is concerned or interested in having a conference soon and will not be seeing the teacher on Conference Day, he should call the school and ask for an appointment."

Con-Con Balloting Polls Open Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Arlington Heights, William R. Engelhardt of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 76 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimagined by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics.

Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

Family Counseling Service Under Way

A family counseling service as recommended by the Palatine Township Youth Committee has begun local operations.

The service offered by the Salvation Army will be available on a referral basis in the Town Hall.

Because of the present limitation of funds, cases will only be taken when referrals are made from various organizations within the community, according to Emerson Thomas, township youth coordinator.

Last week, letters announcing the family counseling service were sent to churches, schools, scout troops and the YMCA.

The need for such a service was determined about a year ago, after a survey was taken by the township youth committee.

A DOCTOR WITH a large practice said he might have made 40 referrals if there was some place to send them.

Already, the Salvation Army family counseling service has handled some cases in the time it's been available locally. Although the group has an agency in Des Plaines, it was agreed the Palatine Town Hall would provide a more accessible location for the service.

'Peanuts Pubs' Click In Suburbs

by DAVE PALERMO

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1936 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a...a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying, 'Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?'"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather a mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Schager. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers. "Now they're experimenting and taking

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

Referendum Canvass Tonight in Dist. 15

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15 will canvass the Nov. 15 referendum results at a special meeting at 8 tonight in the district office, 505 S. Quentin Road, Palatine.

Election results must be certified and accepted by the board of education within 10 days of an election. After the special meeting, the board will hold a regular adjourned meeting to consider the situation on the Willow Bend School rebids and hear a report on the math program in the district.

Slumber At Polls

by JUDY BRANDES

Referendums are great sources of trivia in the suburbs, and with an 11-0 record, Dist. 15 has a lot to talk about.

Unofficially, 2,033 Palatine and Rolling Meadows residents voted in Saturday's election. More than in any of the other 11 elections.

Sixteen teachers spent two hours each Saturday calling room mothers and PTA executive officers to remind them to vote.

Eighteen residents, many of them already active in school activities, earned $20 each as judges for the district's six precincts. The hourly wage is $2.66, which makes it difficult to get people to work.

One voter in Rolling Meadows didn't have a car to get to the polls, so a Dist. 15 principal provided transportation.

More people voted for the $3.3 million building program than for either the educational fund tax rate increase or the rent levy.

More people voted against the rent levy than against either the tax increase or the building program.

The rent levy was the biggest money-

saver of the three propositions. The money is interest-free.

Twice as many people in precincts one, three and six voted this year than in the last referendum election in 1967.

One-third more voted this year than in 1969 in precinct four.

In precinct one, 37 more people voted this year. In precinct two, 18 less voted this year than in 1967.

Precincts one and two are Rolling Meadows.

Whoops, everything about the November referendum is supposed to be terrific.

It is. In Rolling Meadows, the voter turnout was terrifically low.

There are about 2,600 homes in Rolling Meadows. Conservatively, that is 5,000 voters. Only 377 came out to vote Saturday. If you are a mathematician, it's about 7 per cent of the voters.

People are getting tired of going to the polls. This year five elections are taking place in three months. Everyone over the age of 21 is given the responsibility of voting. Whether they accept it or not is their own decision.

But there is another responsibility most people in the community have, children. It's a parent's responsibility to educate his children. Whether or not he supported the referendum, a parent should have voted Saturday.

The last piece of trivia is the most interesting. One-third of those who voted were against the referendum. Yet there was no known opposition to it. No letters to the editor, no people at the public meeting on the referendum, no anti-referendum gatherings or speeches. How come?

It was the silent minority speaking. May they slumber until the next referendum.

Football Is Meet Topic

Plans for a junior football program in Palatine next year will be discussed at a public meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Palatine Park District recreation center, adjacent to the swimming pool in Community Park.

The Palatine Jaycees, who sponsor the current Junior Football program, have called the meeting to propose alternatives to the existing program.

For the past several years, the Palatine program has included two teams, lightweight and heavyweight, that have competed in the Northern Illinois Junior Football League. The 11-team league is centered mostly around Fox Lake, Crystal Lake, McHenry and Woodstock.

THE PALATINE heavyweight team won the league championship this year with an 8-0 record.

Alternatives to the current program are being studied because of the large number of Palatine boys who are unable to play football under the existing system. Only 35 boys participated this year, but that is the maximum that can be accommodated under the present program.

One of the alternatives to be discussed includes possible formation of a league which would operate in Palatine.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS and Mount Prospect currently have leagues within their communities. In Arlington Heights, nearly 500 boys participated this year.

A representative of the Arlington Heights league is expected to attend tomorrow's meeting.

The Jaycees intend to form committees of interested persons to investigate possible avenues to follow.

Asks 'Make Learning Real'

Make the abstract process of learning real. How?

By encouraging students to participate and observe. The school should not isolate students from the living issues of the times.

In an appeal to the Palatine-Schaumburg High School Dist. 211 board of education, Quin MacLoughlin of PACEM (Palatine Area Citizens for an Enlightened Majority) told the board he felt relegating activities on current issues like the Moratorium to after school was placing too low a priority on their importance.

"Policies like the ones in the letter (sent out last week to parents) give the students a priority to use. It shows them what importance we place on the issues they are interested in," MacLoughlin said.

MacLoughlin spoke to the board at its meeting Thursday night about the policy letter sent to parents by Supt. G. A. McElroy. The letter said there would be no in-school observance of the November Moratorium.

"I'm suggesting the school follow-up on

Western Electric Celebrates

Rolling Meadows Western Electric plant is participating in a week-long celebration of the 100th anniversary of Western Electric.

The company celebrates its anniversary today. Although the week is mainly employee-oriented, another purpose of activities is for management of the company to meet with community leaders, said Bob Brader, Western Electric spokesman.

People in the community have been inited to the plant Thursday, to meet with management and to see displays in the building.

Displays include an old telephone and equipment, with the washing machines the company once manufactured.

During the week, old movies will be shown during employee lunch hours, including W. C. Fields and Laurel and Hardy.

BRADER SAID THERE is a clown and

Mrs. Carolyn Mullins, board member, said.

"There is a difference between a mock program and involvement. Students should see their school and learning experience as an involved response to their needs at this sensitive time in their development. They shouldn't feel they are not getting anywhere with their learning," MacLoughlin said.

AFTER MacLoughlin made his presentation, the board tried to explain the district's position.

"The line has to be drawn somewhere," Mrs. Mullins said. "Somewhere the three R's have to be taught."

"We can't let students just leave whenever they feel they want to get involved," Humphrey said. "Some students would take advantage of that kind of policy."

Dist. 211's three high schools, Fremd, Palatine and Conant, have had Moratorium activities initiated by students this fall. Fremd and Conant students made no requests for special programs in the November observance.

Fremd High Honor Students Listed

Immanuel Church Sets Cornerstone Laying

Members of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palatine will participate in the laying of the cornerstone of their new house of worship Nov. 30.

The special service will begin at 11:10 a.m. with the Rev. Theodore A. Braem officiating.

During the service, the Immanuel Lutheran School Band will lead the singing of a hymn.

Construction of the new church at the corner of Plum Grove Road and Lincoln began early this spring. By early next summer, members hope to see the completion of their new church.

PTA Notes

With the holidays coming, parent-teacher organizations are sponsoring special interest programs for all members of the family.

CARDINAL DRIVE

Father-Daughter Fun Night tonight at 7:30 will include the "Vocales," a singing group from Forest View High School, and a gymnastics demonstration by a group from the YMCA. Corsages made by the PTA board will be on sale at the door.

JONAS SALK

Students will be able to browse and purchase educational material at the Learning Festival today in the little gym from 8:45 to 3:15 p.m. Parents and visitors can join students at the festival. Magnifiers, viewers, science experiments, magnets and motors, spelling games and educational handicrafts will be on sale.

JANE ADDAMS

A father-son buzz session with Leo Breen, general manager of the White Sox, will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the school gym.

Chandler's of Evanston will display books in the school's book fair Thursday through Saturday, in the school gym. Book markers and book ends will also be on sale. Hours for the fair are Thursday and Friday, 8:30 to 5 p.m.; Friday, 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.

The PTA will have a movie for children, "All Cartoon Show," Saturday, at 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. Cost is 30 cents per child, adults free. Popcorn will be sold for 10 cents.

COMBINED MEETING

Five Rolling Meadows PTA's will hear Harry Volkman, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. at a combined meeting at Carl Sandburg Junior High School. Volkman is WGN radio and television professional meteorologist and a three-time winner of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences "Emmy." He has been a weather broadcaster since 1949.

The program is sponsored by Carl Sandburg, Cardinal Drive, Central Road, Jonas Salk and Kimball Hill P.T.A.'s and is open to the public.

the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-menud restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazz car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good. . . . A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager.

Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.

Mayor Sabonjian To Talk Tomorrow

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian will address the Northwest Suburban Shrine Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Maitre d' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village.

Sabonjian has been an outspoken critic of rioters, saying they should either love America or leave it and go to Russia.

SABONJIAN WILL SPEAK on current problems of the cities.

Interested men are invited to attend.

FBI Investigates Train Wreck

The FBI has launched an investigation into the cause of Sunday's train wreck near Foundry and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights involving a Soo Line freight train and several Soo Line maintenance crew quarters cars.

Two railroad employees were injured in the mishap. Both remained in fair condition yesterday at Holy Family Hospital. Gildardo Cervantes, 23, of Schiller Park, was burned in the accident. James Miller, 53 of Minneapolis, suffered a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred about 8:10 p.m. when the northbound 63-car freight train veered onto a spur on which several cars from a maintenance crew work train were being stored. Men living in the quarters cars have been working on railroad crossings in the Wheeling area.

THE FREIGHT TRAIN slammed into the quarters cars knocking several of them off the track and starting a fire in one of them. A track maintenance machine, also stored on the spur, was destroyed in the accident.

A spokesman for the railroad said yesterday that vandals apparently tampered with the switch that sent the freight train onto the siding.

Both the FBI and members of the Cook County Sheriff's Police are investigating the accident. An FBI official told the Herald yesterday that the agency was investigating the mishap for "a possible violation of the federal train wreck statute."

Among the quarters cars destroyed in the collision was one the maintenance crews used as a shower car. Railroad officials theorized that it was a propane gas water heater in the cars used for showers that started the fire.

FIREMEN FROM five area fire departments fought the blaze. Men from the Prospect Heights Fire Department sent three trucks to the fire.

A spokesman for the Forest River Fire Protection District said 20 men from his department fought the fire. Firemen brought the fire under control about an hour after they arrived, the spokesman said.

Vehicles from the Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Wheeling fire departments also answered the alarm.

One of the quarters cars knocked from the tracks overturned and came to rest against a Commonwealth Edison utility line tower. The tower, though damaged, did not fall.

Only one of the three engines pulling the freight train and several of the quarters cars were derailed in the accident.

Teachers Treated During The Week

Teachers in the 19 schools in Arlington Heights received special treats accompanied by poems last week as a part of American Education Week.

Members of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club presented teachers with apples on Monday. On Wednesday, all the teachers' lounges were furnished with a plate of fresh baked cookies.

Thursday's treat was a doughnut and Friday's was a magic marker pen.

PRESENTATIONS MADE by the local club on Friday also included a biographical dictionary donated to each school's library.

All four poems which accompanied the treats were written by Mrs. John Hutchison. Mrs. Felix Satikas was the project chairman for the event planned to see that each teacher received a personal thank you.

Apollo Behind Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston UPI — Apollo 12's space pilots, flying a route of no-return, whipped behind the moon Monday night to blast themselves into lunar orbit for America's second moon landing.

Since the spaceship could not communicate with earth from behind the moon, 32 tense minutes elapsed while the world waited for word from Navy commanders, Charles "Pete" Conrad, 39, Alan L. Bean, 37, and Richard F. Gordon, 40.

Kennedy Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, 61, patriarch of the Kennedy family was reported unconscious and near death yesterday after suffering a heart attack. Family members gathered at his home.

Kennedy, father of a President and two senators, was "not conscious," a source close to the family said. The family is "watching and praying."

Haynsworth Adds One

WASHINGTON — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., gave administration forces a boost yesterday by announcing he would vote for Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s nomination to the Supreme Court.

Claim No Execution

QUANG NGAI, South Vietnam — A South Vietnamese official, disputing reports that American infantrymen executed up to 700 civilians in one village, said yesterday the deaths were caused instead by U.S. air and artillery strikes and the toll was "perhaps 300."

The official said in an interview that the air and artillery barrages leveled the village of Son My in March, 1968.

Green Berets Hit

SAIGON — North Vietnamese artillery based in Cambodia bombarded the Bu Prang Green Beret camp for the 21st day in a row yesterday and U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders dug the shell craters into bunkers.

Allied jet fighter-bombers roared across the border for the second consecutive day of attacks on North Vietnamese gun sites to try to silence the barrage.

Act on Gun Law

WASHINGTON — The house virtually guaranteed yesterday prompt exemption of shotgun and some rifle ammunition from registration requirements of last year's gun control law.

Ammunition for pistols would remain subject to the restrictions, under which the government now requires dealers to record name, address, age and other information about persons buying ammunition.

Deny Mistrial Again

CHICAGO — The defense argued yesterday a mistrial should be declared in the riot conspiracy trial of seven men because of police infiltration and spying into affairs of the defendants.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled that the defense charges were "unsubstantiated" and denied the motion.

FIREMEN HOSE DOWN what remains of a railroad maintenance crew quarters car. Several of the quarters cars, standing on a spur track near Foundry and

Wolf roads in Prospect Heights, were rammed Sunday night by a Soo Line freight train. Firemen from five fire departments spent more than an hour bringing under control a blaze that started in one of the cars used as a shower by the maintenance crews. The mishap resulted in two injuries.

McDonald's Isn't Out of Fire Yet

A proposed McDonald's on a portion of 2000 N. Arlington Heights Road was approved last night by the Arlington Heights Board of Trustees, but Atty. William Moore's client may not be out of the fire yet.

The board voted 4 to 3 to approve the preannexation zoning to B-2 of 1914-1916-2000 Arlington Heights Road, and granted a special use permit for a drive-in restaurant on the northerly 160 feet of 2000 Arlington Heights Road.

An amendment of Trustee George Burlingame's motion to approve the request of Frank Palmatier may cause the proposed restaurant some problems.

BECAUSE OF ANTICIPATED traffic problems, Palmatier suggested a driveway along the west ends of the properties to Arlington Heights Road. The board and Moore accepted the amendment, but Frederick Weber, attorney for George and Mabel Gieseke who own one of the lots involved, did not agree to the driveway.

Weber said his clients were not ready to have a driveway because they didn't have a purchaser for their property, and expected to live there until the purchaser was found. Village Pres. Jack Walsh suggested that Moore and Weber discuss the matter.

If the driveway controversy is resolved, Village Atty. Jack Siegel will prepare the necessary preannexation and zoning ordinance.

Moore began his presentation by saying "We are not proposing an annexation use that is hostile to the best interests of the village."

"EVERYTHING TO the Northeast and south of the property that is in Arlington Heights, is an existing shopping area." Moore added that the McDonald's location on Northwest Highway and Wilke Road, took in approximately a half-million dollars last year. "In a burgeoning community like this, there is a demand for McDonald's products."

At the plan commission hearing on this matter, it was learned that McDonald's owns land on Rand Road between Palatine and Arlington Heights roads. Moore told the board that this is McDonald's alternate site. The plan commission denied Moore's petition 6 to 3.

Reset Meeting

Wheeling Township's board of auditors meeting has been rescheduled for 4 p.m. this afternoon. Previously the meeting was to have been held at 8 p.m. tonight.

At this afternoon's meeting, auditors plan to discuss the pending request for a sewer easement along the township garage property on Hintz Road near Wheeling.

A SWITCH, tampered with by vandals, was the cause of the train wreck Sunday according to Soo Line railroad officials. A freight train, moving about 25 m.p.h. turned onto the siding where it collided with several maintenance crew quarters cars.

Con-Con Voting Is Today

Polls will be open until 6 p.m. today for voters to elect delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention (Con-Con) which opens in Springfield Dec. 8.

Two delegates in each of the state's 58 senatorial districts will be elected today. There are four candidates for the two seats.

In the Third Senatorial District, which includes the Northwest suburbs, candidates are John G. Woods of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Virginia B. Macdonald of Inverness and Mrs. Madeline Schroeder of Arlington Heights.

The four were the top vote getters in the Sept. 23 primary election that had 16 names on the ballot.

VOTER TURNOUT IS expected to be light, although the Cook County board of election commissioners indicated over the weekend that a slightly higher turnout than in the primary was expected. The election board bases its predictions on the number of absentee ballots requested.

Statewide, only one in four voters is expected to participate in what has been called a "once in a lifetime chance" and the "most important election in Illinois history."

The present Illinois Constitution was written in 1870 when 75 per cent of the population of Illinois were farmers.

THERE WERE 85 delegates at the 1869-70 convention and the Constitution was written with a definite eye toward protecting the farmers from the growing city of Chicago. Many provisions are directed toward "cities of over 100,000 population," Chicago being the only one at the time and apparently destined to remain alone in that category.

However, the state has grown at a rate unimaginable by the framers of the current Constitution and many of the provisions in it are outdated and put serious restrictions on government.

The four Third District candidates possess a variety of experience relating to government and politics.

Woods is former mayor of Arlington Heights and former president of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Mrs. Macdonald is former chairwoman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee. Engelhardt is former mayor of Inverness and Mrs. Schroeder is former president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and former vice-chairman of the Third District Citizens for Con-Con committee.

SURROUNDED BY FRIENDS, Mrs. Marjo Everett, president of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises and operator of Arlington Park race track, attended the dedication of the new Boy Scout service center on Rand Road. Mrs. Everett donated $300,000 to the center and, in effect, gave a giant helping hand to the Northwest suburban scout organization.

Mayor Sabonjian To Talk Tomorrow

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian will address the Northwest Suburban Shrine Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Maitre d' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village.

Sabonjian has been an outspoken critic of rioters, saying they should either love America or leave it and go to Russia.

SABONJIAN WILL SPEAK on current problems of the cities.

Interested men are invited to attend.

In IWU Musical

Joanne Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Mayer of 413 S. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, is a member of the chorus in "Brigadoon," the first production of the 1969-70 season at Illinois Wesleyan University's McPherson Theater.

Miss Mayer is a senior at IWU majoring in music. She is a 1966 graduate of Arlington High School.

NEW PRINCIPAL in Arlington Heights School Dist. 25, James Riebock stands in front of Rand Junior High School on N. Arlington Heights Road. Construction at Rand, which opened its doors in September, is still going on but staff and students should have full use of the building by Thanksgiving. There are several innovations in the new school including grade-level teams for the teaching staff.

His Aim: Initiative

by JOAN KLUSSMANN

Young girls with flying hair, waiting for the gymnasium floor to be hammered into place, do the Mexican hat dance in the corridor near his office. Workmen mold construction materials into classrooms and teachers and students work with temporary schedules.

James Riebock, principal of Rand Junior High School in Arlington Heights, coordinates daily activities in the new school with unburied, soft-spoken aplomb. New to School Dist. 25 this year, he is delighted to be working with junior high school students.

He describes children of this age as students "you can do a lot with — they are still very pliable." To Riebock, doing a lot includes helping the student develop responsibility and initiative.

WHEN CONSTRUCTION is completed, a plan will be put into effect to encourage students to make their own decisions and select their own study projects. The student, at the beginning of the plan, is in a typical classroom situation under the direction of a teacher. At the other end of the spectrum, he is doing what he wants where he wants.

In between, there are intermediate steps to test the child's ability to function on his own and help him attain the level best suited to his individual talents. Riebock explained that the student may work for part of the day in a small learning center immediately outside his classroom or he may use materials in the library resource center, located in the center of the Rand building.

THE TEACHER may give the student several activities to choose from or the two may discuss various projects and make a joint decision. Communication between educator and pupil is important to Riebock. And, he says, you can't really communicate when the teacher lectures all day. "This is only a one-way street."

Under the new plans teachers will be faced with making decisions they have never had to think about in the past. They will have to take a hard look at class schedules and decide who will profit from more algebraic equations and which student will fare better working on his own.

If the project is successful the child who loves to paint and who does well in other subjects, may spend additional time in the art room, and the scientist-to-be can have extra time with laboratory equipment.

RIECK IS QUICK to point out, however, that kids of this age should experiment with many activities to find out what they really like. He plays chess with interested students now and will form a club when construction permits a more regular schedule.

The new principal is also working on a thesis for a doctorate degree in school administration at Loyola University, which he plans to complete in June. He majored in mathematics and physics in college and received a master's degree from Roosevelt University.

After several years of teaching, Riebock received a Ford Foundation grant to intern in administration at Fenton High School in Bensenville. He worked with teachers on curriculum and instruction methods before coming to Arlington Heights. A Mount Prospect resident and father of two, he enjoys water skiing and reading. His wife teaches at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights.

RIECK LEFT Fenton High School in July in the midst of a school board debate over administrative assistants' salaries. When board members attempted to commend him on his past performance, the usually quiet, reserved educator said, "If you want to show appreciation for me, by God support the men I work with."

"You've been fortunate to assemble such a team of educators. The men I worked with afforded me an opportunity to do something here and if I performed well, it was because of them."

While the outburst may have been a rare one, the statement reflects Riebock's present attitude at Rand. When asked about various projects, he replied that they were working "because the staff is outstanding and they are doing a wonderful job."

Real Estate Transfers Are Listed

Twelve property sales in Mount Prospect topped activity in the latest monthly Elk Grove Township real estate transfer report from County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen.

There were six sales in Des Plaines, five in Arlington Heights, two in Rolling Meadows, and 28 in Elk Grove Village and the rest of the township.

Olsen recorded the following property transfers for the township:

'Peanut Pubs,' Old Town-Style, Hit Suburbs

by DAVE PALERMO

The owners of the Beef 'N Barrel, 1936 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, buy two tons of peanuts a week and they don't even have an elephant.

The peanuts are for customers, free of charge, and they go like hotcakes.

"Peanuts are sort of a...a tranquilizer," said part-owner Sam Boznos. "We once had a newspaper advertisement which showed a tense man coming to a psychiatrist and the psychiatrist saying,

"Why don't you go to the Beef 'N Barrel and throw peanut shells on the floor?"

BUT FREE peanuts aren't restricted to the Beef 'N Barrel. In fact, they're becoming rather common in the Northwest suburbs.

Pubs, similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town, are gradually moving out to the suburbs, and with them are the free peanuts.

"The peanuts make for a cozy atmosphere," said Jake Flowers, owner of Jake's Pizza on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect. "This is the type of place where a guy can take his whole family and not worry about the kids spilling peanuts all over the place. The floors are already covered with 'em."

"Some people don't eat lunch and come in here and gorge themselves on peanuts and popcorn and wash it down with beer," said Richard Schager, manager of Butch McGuire's tavern on Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Old Town's transition to the area is not incidental, but rather as mass "experiment" by tavern owners to see if the success can continue in a suburban atmosphere.

Butch McGuire, who also owns a plush pub on Division Street in Chicago, chose Mount Prospect for his first venture out of the city.

"WE'VE BEEN waiting for this place quite a while," said the 27-year-old Schager. "There's tremendous potential for a place like this in the area."

"Basically, the whole idea of pubs like this started in Old Town," said Flowers.

"Now they're experimenting and taking the idea out into the suburbs."

Boznos, who spent 14 months going over population surveys before ground was broken three years ago for the Beef 'N Barrel, said there was a need in the community for such a place.

"We were concerned about young marrieds — young executives who might be mortgaged to the fullest extent and looking for a place between a snack shop and heavily-meat restaurant," he said.

"Some place where they can go and relax — throw peanut shells on the floor and not worry about it. We don't want to create any tension — we want to ease that."

JAKE FLOWERS, owner of Jake's Pizza and Pub on Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect, feels going into the pub business in the suburbs today is a sure road to success, especially if it is styled similar to those found in Chicago's Old Town area. Before he went into the pub business, Jake ran it as a fancy restaurant, but found he was losing money. He also owns a new Jake's Pizza now in Elk Grove Village.

The Beef 'N Barrel is a large restaurant with a Wild West atmosphere, enhanced by waitresses with cowboy hats, bartenders with string ties and relics like Mexican sombreros, wagon wheels and steer horns hung from the rough, dark-wood walls.

WITH A capacity of 250 people, the Beef 'N Barrel is indeed geared to the young couples. Puppet shows are held on Sundays for the children to, in Boznos' words, "give them some place to go where they can take the kids."

"They have a lot of kids, and if we can please the kids, we can please them," he theorized.

Although Jake's Pizza is also aimed at the young, the atmosphere is more intimate.

Formerly a French restaurant, complete with flaming dishes, carpeting and a piano bar, Flowers found himself losing $500 a night while merely breaking even on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE PIANO bar, carpeting and flaming dishes went out two years ago and immediately the revenue began pouring in.

"Getting out of the restaurant business and into the pub business was like taking a vacation," said Flowers.

"Young guys get out of school and get a job — how much money do they have? First they gotta buy a jazzy car and then some fancy clothes and they ain't got that much money to flag around."

"Here a guy can bring his family and eat real good...A guy's gotta be an animal to eat one of these pizzas all by himself."

Butch McGuire's caters to the younger crowd — the crowd in which nearly everyone gets checked for legal identifications at the door by one of two doormen who double as bouncers.

"WE LIKE TO APPEAL to the young, single people, from 21 to 29," said Schager. "The people in the neighborhood who don't have that many places in the community to go to."

A small place, formerly known as Wayne's Redwood Inn, McGuire's opened for business Oct. 1 and is in the initial stage of construction, according to Schager.

Like the latter two places, McGuire's has a jukebox. However, Schager sees to it that the volume is extra loud.

The motivation in going to McGuire's is to meet others one's own age and relate. Both girls and guys, just beyond the legal drinking age, usually go stag and, despite the loud music, manage to work up a conversation.

Unlike Jake's and the Beef 'N Barrel, the main line at McGuire's is the booze instead of the food.
